

1957

Annales

COLLEGE OF NEW ROCHELLE

1957

Annales

Table of Contents

Prologue	6
Dedication	8
King of Glory	24
King of Truth	40
Humanities	42
Natural Sciences	62
Social Sciences	68
King of Love	80

Prologue

All things have been created through and unto him and he is before all creatures, and in him all things hold together. . . . For it has pleased God the Father that in him all his fulness should dwell, and that through him he should reconcile to himself all things, whether on the earth or in the heavens, making peace through the blood of his cross.

COL. 1:16, 19-20

THROUGH CHRIST there has come to us the fulness of redemption, the wonder of a God Who would put aside the splendor of His majesty and become man for us out of the depths of His love. The Lord of inaccessible light now lived for us in time as the Child of Bethlehem; the Wisdom of the Eternal Word, as the Messiah Who brought men God's truth.

WITH CHRIST has come the establishment of the new Kingdom of God. As He united the divine and human orders in His birth, so He elevated all creation to a new birth in grace on the Cross; as He conquered sin by death, He gave life to the Mystical Body which would continue His redemptive work throughout all time. Entering into His glory as Sovereign Ruler of the earth both "by birth and by conquest," He now shared with men the work of building up a Kingdom of the new Creation, which He would present to His Father in the fulness of time.

IN CHRIST JESUS is our life, for He has brought us as members of His Kingdom to a glorious unity with Himself, in which we become the continuers of His own humanity. By our incorporation as members of His Mystical Body through Baptism, we have been made sharers in His royal priesthood, we have been ingrafted as branches of the Vine. Together with Him, we form the "whole Christ"; with Christ as our Head, we partake in the mission of extending His Kingdom over all men and over all human activities.

OUR YEARS AT NEW ROCHELLE have brought a closer realization of what such a union "in Christ Jesus" really is. Together we have shared in the "wondrous exchange," strengthened with the divine power of the God-Man Who is our King of Glory through the sacramental life. Unit- ing with Him in the homage of worship and the work of the apostolate, we have sought to give praise to the Eternal Father and to give Christ to others. In our student vocation, we have seen the human reflections of truth and beauty with the King of Truth as our center and perspective. Growing in a knowledge of the arts and sciences and finding new expres- sion in co-curricular activities, we have learned to lead more fully human lives; yet we have seen as our ideal an intellectual life that would think and create in terms of a vital Christian culture. United in Christ Jesus Who is King of Love, we have shared our daily activities, the growth of four years, the bond of friendship. We have realized that a woman's strength is the generosity of love and her glory a love rooted "in Christ Jesus."

Dedication

TO THE FACULTY

TOGETHER AS A CLASS, we have shared the experience of discovering truth in its many-faceted splendor; together, we now dedicate our Annales to you who have given your own love of truth to our growth in wisdom. With loving appreciation, we thank you for the ideals of scholarship that have inspired us, for the discerning judgments that have guided us, for the reflections on reality that have enriched us, for a generosity of life and learning that has shown us Christ's glory through the arts and sciences.

Tribute

HIS EMINENCE, FRANCIS CARDINAL SPELLMAN

TO OUR BELOVED CARDINAL ARCHBISHOP, who has ever shown paternal solicitude for our welfare, we offer our filial respect, gratitude, and love.

WITH ITS BEGINNINGS in Leland Castle and its roots in tradition, New Rochelle this year celebrates the mark of its progress in the fiftieth commencement.

Leland Castle

Acknowledgement

MOTHER M. DOROTHEA DUNKERLEY, O.S.U.
PRESIDENT

LIVING THE IDEALS she seeks to impart, Mother Dorothea has lovingly directed us toward perfection in the Christian and the womanly. For her dedicated administration, guidance, and prayers we offer her our grateful love.

Recognition

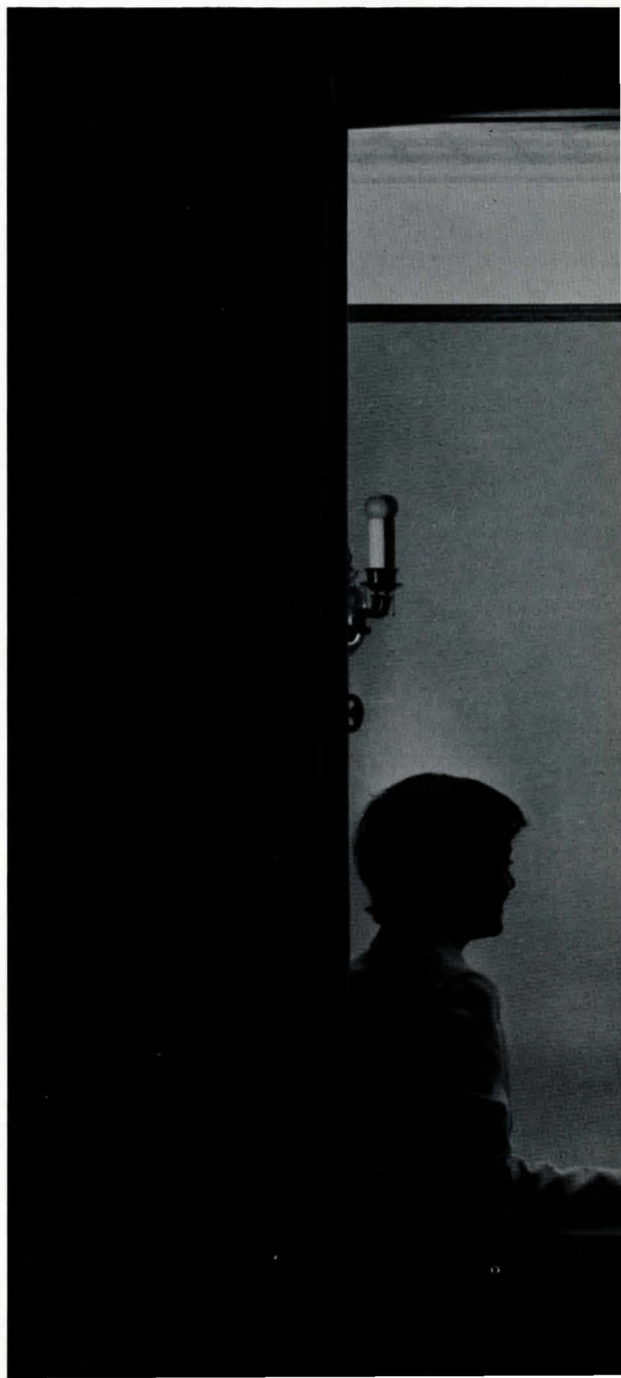

Mother Mary Alice Gallin, o.s.u., ACTING DEAN; Mother Mary Peter Carthy, o.s.u., DEAN

FOR THEIR EVER-INSPIRING DEDICATION, their ever-solicitous guidance, and their ever-perfecting love we offer our grateful love to MOTHER MARY PETER and MOTHER MARY ALICE.

Appreciation

Mother M. Madeleine Clary, O.S.U., and Mother Ursula Baumann, O.S.U., CLASS ADVISERS

To MOTHER MADELEINE and MOTHER URSULA we extend a special thank you. Through their generous activity and loving prayer, they have guided us in our growth as Christians and daughters of the College of New Rochelle.

Recognition

WITH AN EXPERT GRASP on psychology and its practical applications, DR. WIGHTWICK has made her classes meaningful; with discreet efficiency, she has centered her life work around our future careers; with selfless energy, she has expended her talents for both college and civic community. Gratefully, we acknowledge the generous service of one who has quietly devoted herself to each individual student and to CNR as a whole.

M. Irene Wightwick, Ph.D.
Associate Professor of Psychology and Personnel Director

ADMISSIONS

FROM THE DAY OF APPLICATION, through her student career, to final preparation for post-graduate living, the student is guided by: Mother M. Clotilde-Angela, Director of Admissions; Mother Jean Marie, Director of Students; M. Irene Wightwick, Personnel Director.

Dr. M. Irene Wightwick, Ph.D., and Dorothy Carey, B.S.

Mother Clotilde-Angela, A.B., and Mother Jean Marie, A.M.

ADMINISTRATION

THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE COLLEGE is in the loving and capable hands of: Mother M. Dorothea, President; Mother Mary Alice, Acting Dean; Mother M. Paula, Registrar; Mother M. Rose, Treasurer.

Our governing body at CNR. Seated: Mother M. Dorothea, Ph.D., and Mother Mary Alice, Ph.D. Standing: Mother M. Paula, A.M., and Mother Mary Rose, M.S.

WONDROUS

the human race . . .

man's aid, enriched us

KING OF GLORY

EXCHANGE! The Creator of having become man without with His divinity.

Together we have shared in the "wondrous exchange," strengthened with the divine power of the God-Man Who is our King of Glory through the sacramental life. Uniting with Him in the homage of worship and work of the apostolate, we have sought to give praise to the Eternal Father and to give Christ to others.

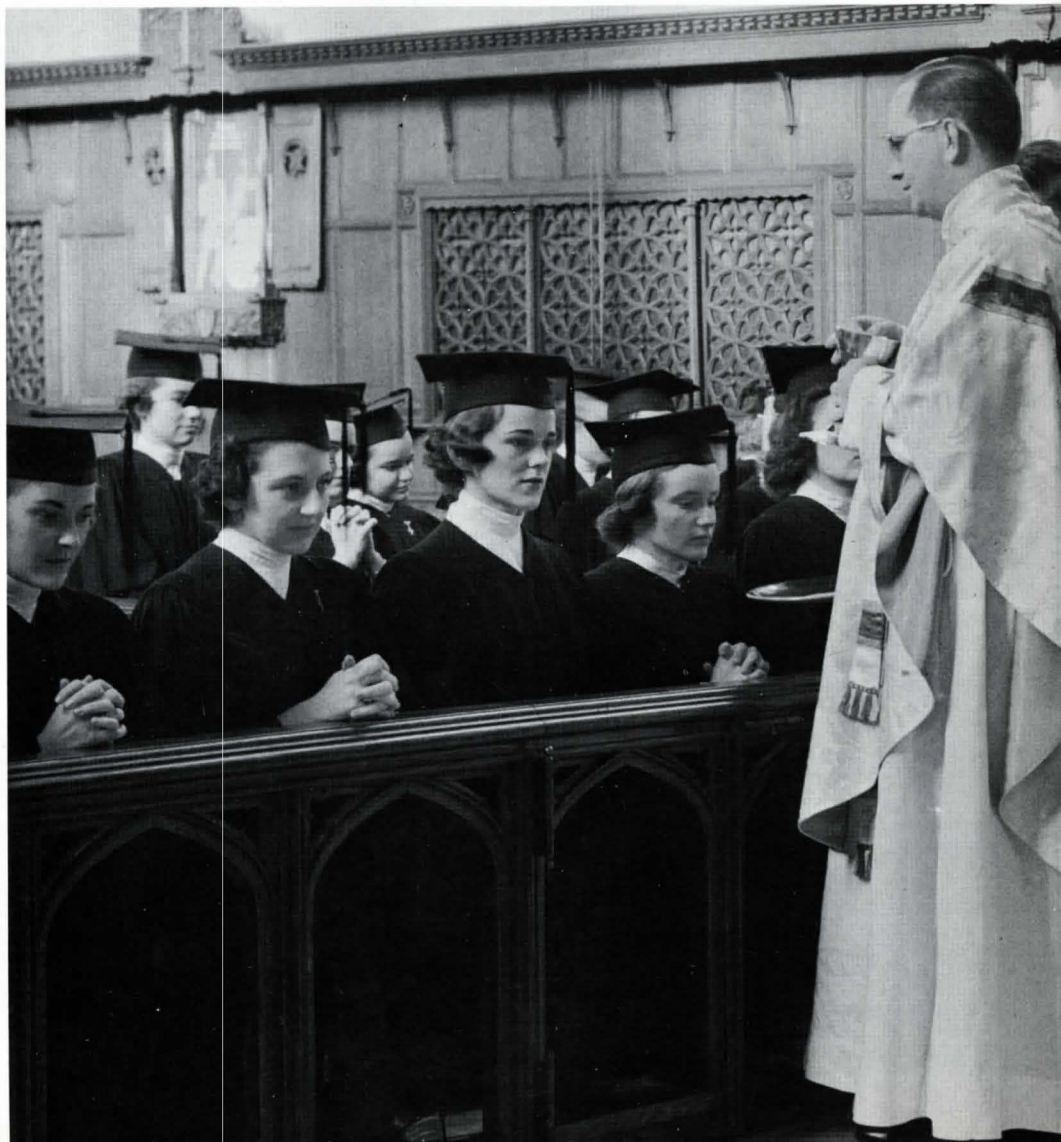

Holy Family Chapel

"Receive, O holy Father, almighty and eternal God, this spotless host . . ."

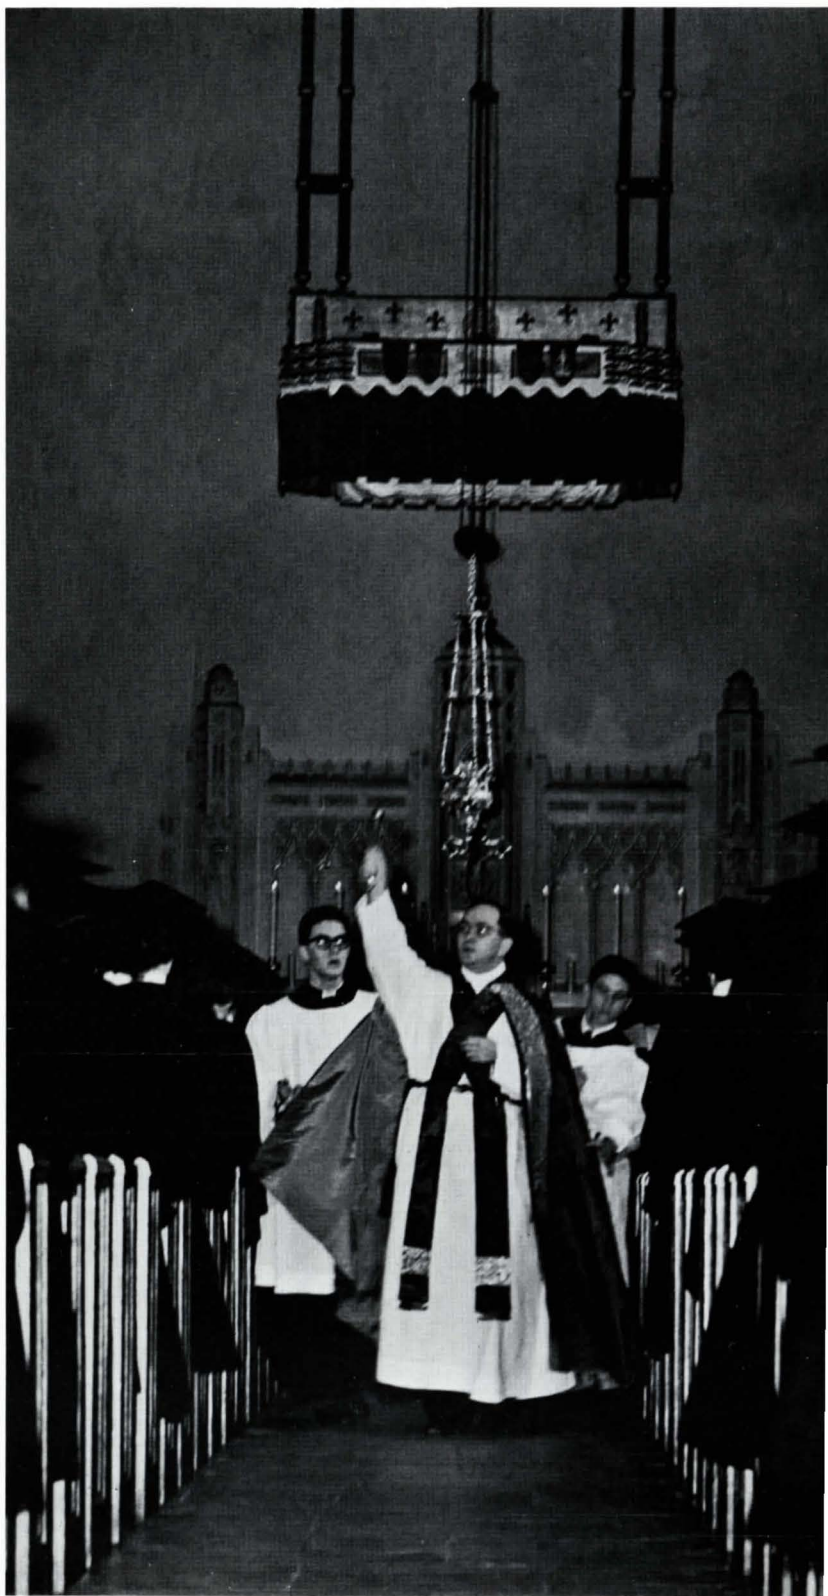

"I will take the chalice of salvation and call on the name of the Lord."

CHAPEL

"MAY THE SACRIFICE we, this day offer up be well-pleasing to Thee . . ."

Placing our hosts in the ciborium as we start each day reminds us that our entire student life—studies, prayers, recreation—is offered and accepted in union with the Sacrifice of Christ. Through the sacramental and liturgical life of New Rochelle we have received the grace to grow in faith, hope, and love.

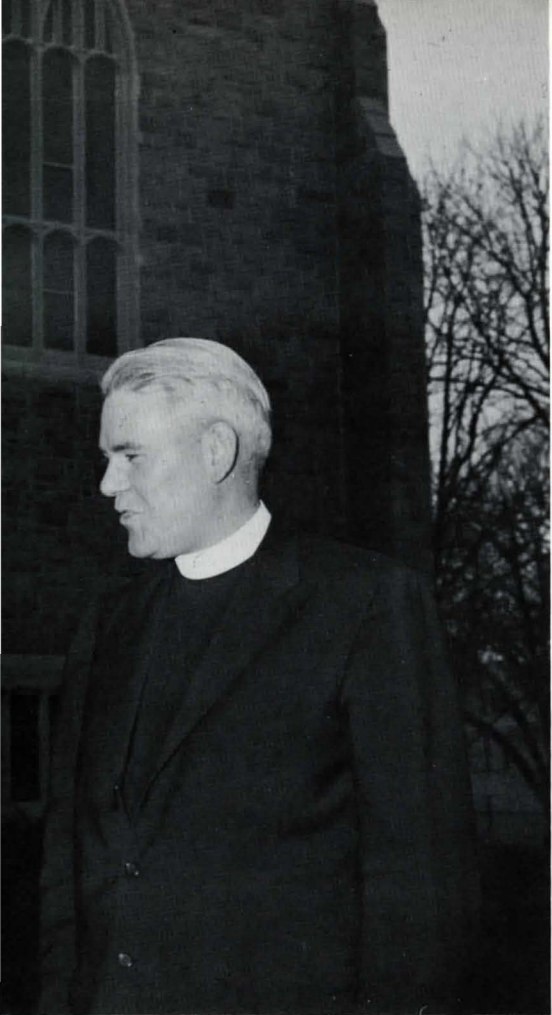

"Asperges me, Domine, hyssopo, et mundabor."

Reverend John J. Quinn, A.B., Chaplain

WITH PROFOUND PENETRATION and soft-spoken scholarship, Father has taught us the Word of God and preached to us the Kingdom of Christ. With loving enthusiasm, he has given us the beauty of the liturgy, the strength of the Mass and Sacraments.

Reverend Thomas J. Darby, Ph.D., and Reverend Thomas Moriarty, A.M.

Mother M. Therese, A.M., and Mother M. Kathleen, M.S.

THEOLOGY

SHOWING US CHRIST, "Who has been made wisdom for us by God," the divine science forms the core of our studies. Mother Thérèse and Mother Kathleen begin to reveal the riches of the "wondrous exchange" in which God became Man. With Father Darby and Father Moriarty, we see the Redeemer King in the Sacrifice of Calvary and its daily renewal in the Mass. Junior year manifests Christ's mission continued through us in the Mystical Body. To us as seniors, Father Quinn presents the fullness of our life in Christ Jesus through the sacraments and the way of Christian perfection.

Loretta D'Agostino, Prefect of Sodality, and Jeanne Cona, Vice-Prefect.

SODALITY

As MARY'S VOCATION was both to contain Christ and to bear Him to the world, so members of Sodality strive to partake of her vocation by participation in Mass and mental prayer and by a commitment to the social apostolate. This desire to serve Christ through His Mother is expressed in the consecration to Mary.

Sodalists instruct and entertain at Bellevue:
Marilyn Roth, Catherine Corgan, and Mary Emmons.

YOUNG CHRISTIAN STUDENTS

TO REALIZE the vital apostolic nature of the Church and to express that realization in action: this is the aim of the Young Christian Students. At weekly meetings the members crystallize the results of their specialized Catholic Action technique. Through intercollegiate study days, days of recollection, and social events, YCS'ers share intellectually, culturally, and spiritually enriching experiences which strengthen their commitment to serve Christ in their fellow students.

"Observe, judge, act" stamps the positive approach of YCS'ers to campus life and student problems. Converting their findings to practical resolutions are: Carol Kennedy, Rosemary Graziano, Matilde Huertas, Maryan Furey, President; Joan Bray, and Catherine Corgan.

CHOIR

CHOIR HAS THE OVERALL INTENT of restoring Christ to daily life through the promotion of the liturgy, especially on campus. At daily and Sunday Mass, it fills the Chapel with a rich variety of music from chant to polyphony. Adhering to the liturgical seasons, it pays musical homage in its "Advent Tribute to Mary" and its Christmas caroling.

Elizabeth Seidel, President of Choir.

"Sing praise to our King, sing praise! For He is the great King over all the earth."
 Choristers Roberta Miller, Gertrude Kelly, Jeanne Cona, and Nitza Enriquez.

LEAGUE OF THE SACRED HEART

THE LEAGUE OF THE SACRED HEART seeks to intensify campus devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. This is done by promoting participation in the monthly holy hour, by increasing a love for Christ through First Friday exposition, and encouraging personal devotion through League leaflets.

A gracious invitation is posted by Joan Palmera and Marilyn Curry,
President of the League.

C.C.D.

THE CONFRATERNITY OF CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE with its three basic units—teachers, helpers, and parent-educators, is dedicated to one apostolate, teaching the word of God. Teachers instruct release-time classes or hospitalized children; helpers provide essential equipment. Parent-educators assist parents in developing a thoroughly Christian home.

CCD President Phyllis Van de Car graphically illustrates a point to officers Carole Dinneen, Sue Cunningham, Eileen Ferren, and Betty Dillon.

Distant missions lend enchantment to a variety of activity among Mission Club members: Mary Ellen Schepp, Barbara Kong, President; Joan Palmera, Louise Anderson, Mary Jane Lane, Rosemary Moore, Beth Cahill, Patricia Walsh, Yupin Lee, and Matilde Huertas.

MISSION CLUB

OCTOBER BRINGS MISSION DAY and the spirit of apostolicity pervades each class and club in our drive for prayers and pennies. A tour among the colorful mission booths might include a visit to the Freshman White Elephant Sale, a browse among liturgical books and art, a sitting for a portrait, and end with a friendly snack at the French café. The world-conscious pageantry honors Our Lady, Queen of the Missions, and in the footsteps of tradition, the Senior Banquet and Junior Show climax the day. Tired but satisfied, we count our earnings and send them to Thailand, Alaska, Montana, and Siam.

Whether staffing the Book Nook, packing clothes for foreign lands, selling candy, or knitting mittens, the Mission Club thrives on activity. Supported by the ingenuity and zeal of the club members, the Mission Nook in Brescia hums with the varied projects which are planned to extend the warmth of charity to all corners of the world.

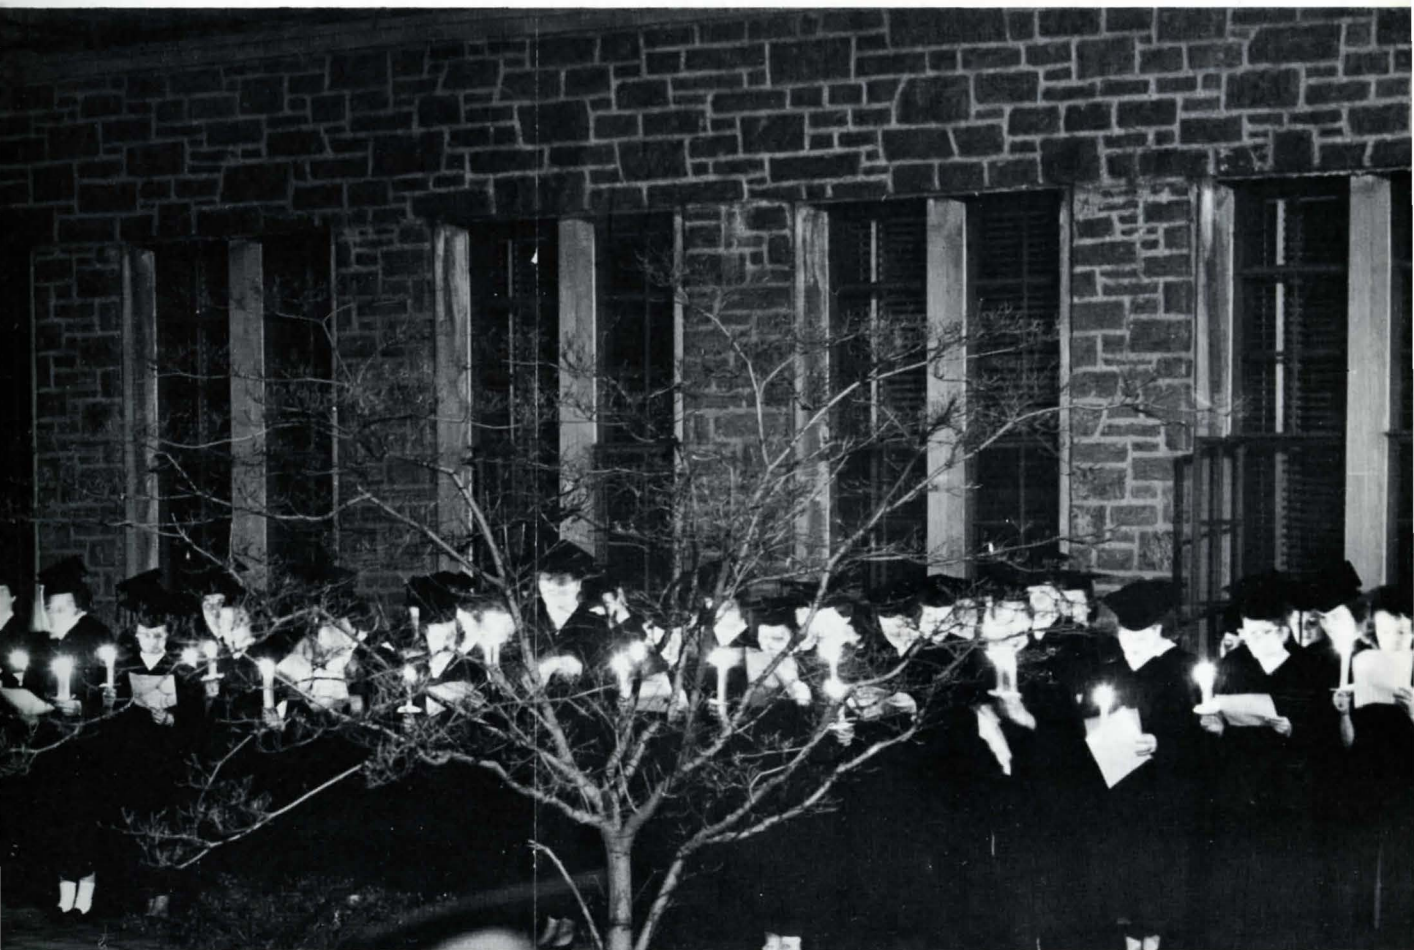

Bargains have winning ways among customers wandering among
The Mission Day booths.

Flowers with a French accent are another attraction at the exhibit. Mary Ann Walker,
Virginia Ketterson, and Adrienne O'Brien need no "sales talk."

"Mary the W heatsheaf, Christ the Living Bread,
Mary the Rosetree, Christ the Rose blood-red . . .

Mary the Mother, Christ the Mother's Son,
Both ever blest while endless ages run."

WISDOM,
the Most High and
You ordered all things

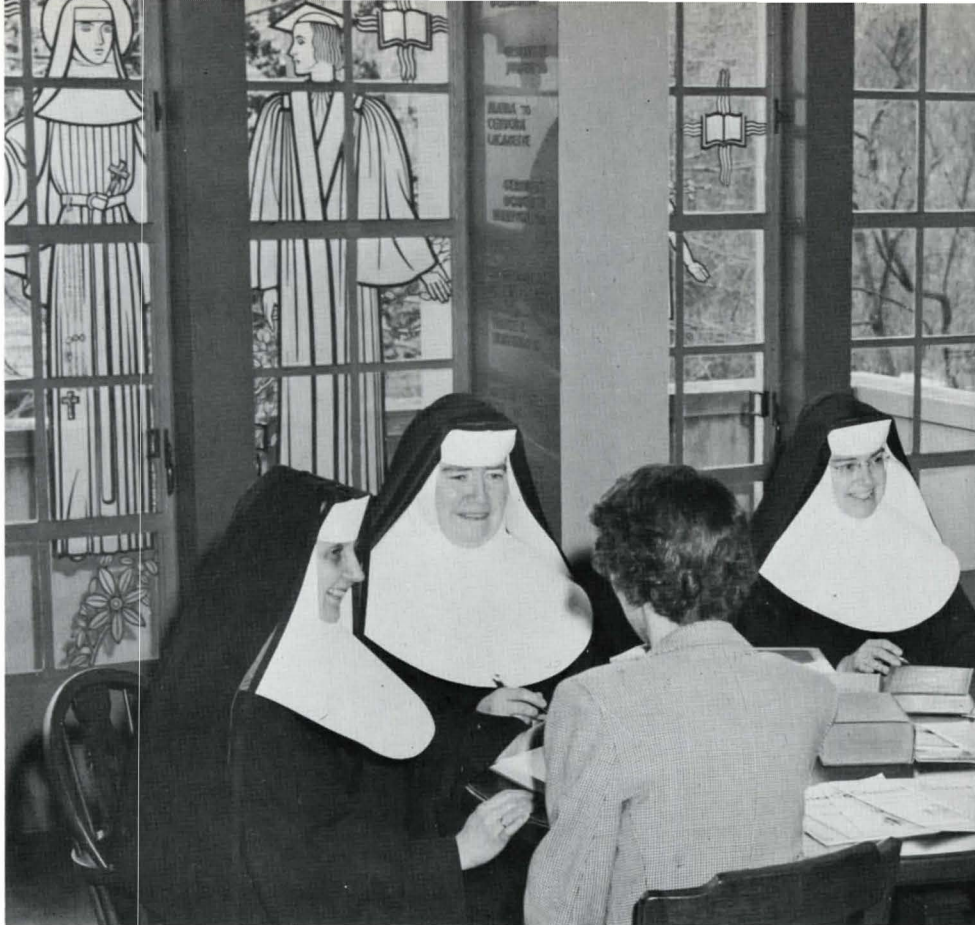

KING OF TRUTH

You came forth from the mouth of reaching from beginning to end, mightily and sweetly . . .

Mother Irene Gill Library

Library staff: Mother M. de Montfort, A.B., Mother M. Gonzaga, A.B., Mother Marguerite, B.S., Mother M. Gertrude, A.M.

LIBRARY

COMBINING CLASSICAL WITH MODERN, medieval with Renaissance, politics with religion—and all without confusion—the library harmoniously encompasses the records of both tradition and progress. As the storehouse of assorted wisdom, it has necessarily become a focal point for much campus activity, whether it is the rapid shuttling of books at the reserve desk around 8:59 and 4:30 or a quiet session with symphonies and language records in the browsing room. This year, the addition consisting of two levels of stacks which increased shelving, studying and office space, greatly augmented the library's value and usefulness to the college community.

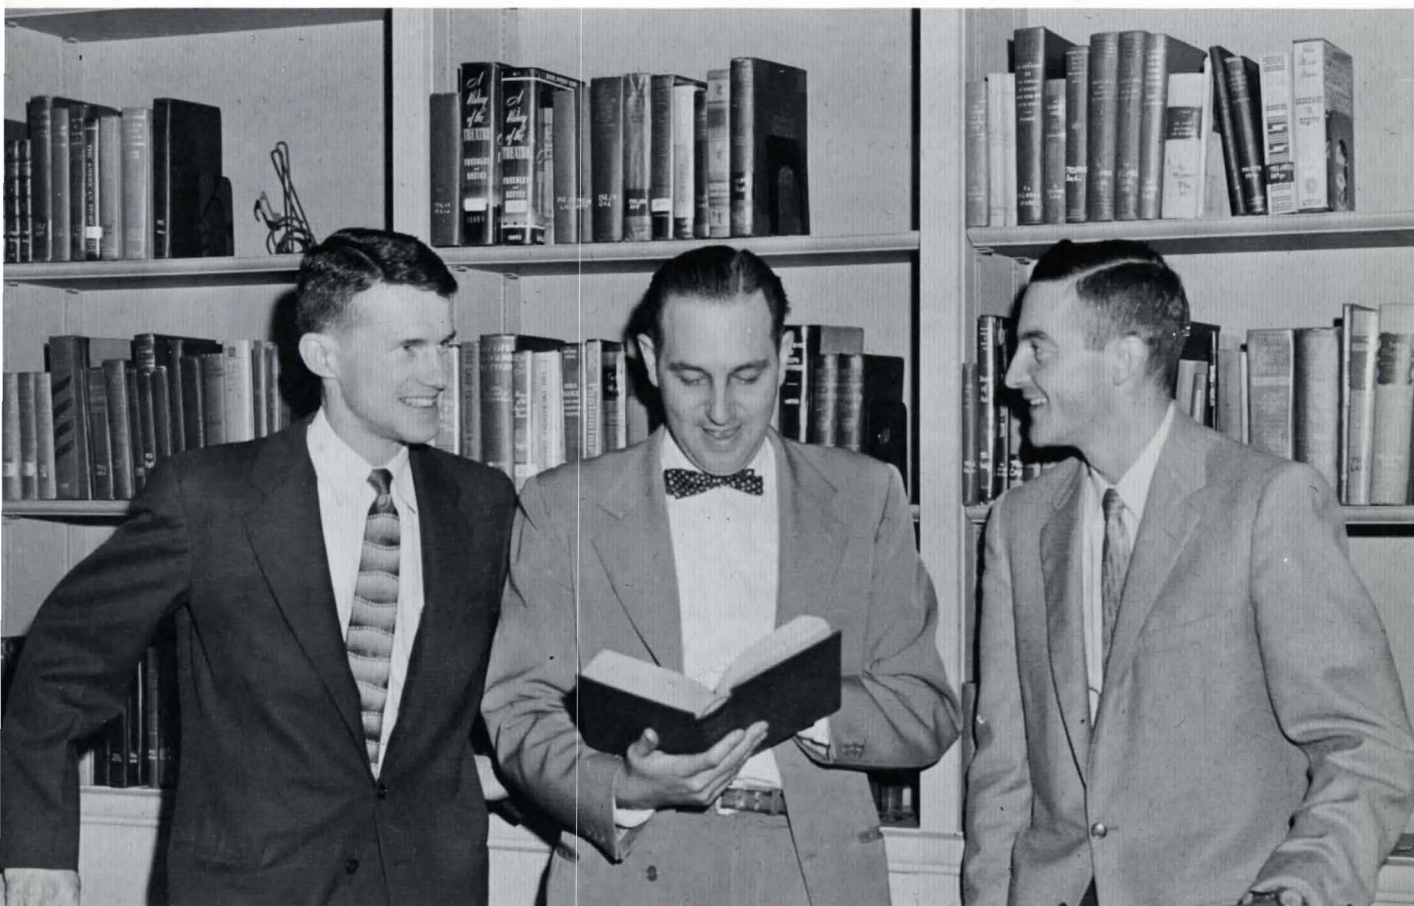

Gloria T. Greco, M.S., and Ann M. Lukash, B.S.

DIRECTING AND SUPERVISING the intricate flow of the 65,000 volumes are Mother Marguerite and Mother de Montfort, while Mother Gonzaga is in charge of processing the books. Our college archivist is Mother Gertrude. As specialist in readers' difficulties, Miss Greco efficiently locates the most elusive books; as specialist in fact-finding, Miss Lukash unearths upon request the most obscure reference. Managing the reserve desk, Miss Navin miraculously keeps traffic unsnarled.

Acquainting Dody Fellenz with the new library facilities are: Gertrude Navin, A.M., Grace Sidley, and Mary Wright of the library staff.

John Bannan, Ph.D., Eugene Fontinell, Ph.D., and William Smith, Ph.D.

PHILOSOPHY

POTENCY MOVES TOWARD act and meta-physics takes on meaning as we discover "love of wisdom" in philosophy. Under Mother Judith and Mr. Smith, we root out fallacies with Sophomore Logic and survey the history of philosophy. In junior year, we explore the implications of being and the nature of man under Mr. Scully and Dr. Bannan. As seniors, we are moved to ethical considerations by Mr. Scully's diagrams, while Dr. Fontinell teaches us to speculate on the thought of such modern philosophers as Descartes, Hume, and Kant.

Joseph G. Scully, A.M.

Mother M. Christopher, Ph.D.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

A BRUSH-UP ON THE NICETIES of grammar, a biography before Christmas, the first term paper blossoming in the spring and sprouting the proper footnotes: these mark Freshman English. As sophomores, we strengthen our literary foundations with the Major British Writers. Junior Seminar broadens, while Senior Co-ordinating Seminar intensifies our knowledge, with each of us "specializing" in a particular author. A glimpse of Shakespearian theater, a retracing of Dante's steps through the Divine Comedy, a view of seven gables, white whales, and transcendental poets, the Renaissance, and the 17th and 18th centuries: these are the things that more intimately solidify our knowledge.

Margaret Mooney, A.M.

Mother M. Thomas Aquinas, Ph.D., Mother M. Grace, Ph.D.

Mother Mary Denis, A.M.

Mother Blanche Marie, A.M., Mother M. Madeleine, A.M., Mother Marie Louise, A.M. and Mother Marie Louise, A.M.

Joseph Cunneen, A.M., and James J. Greene, A.M.

An issue at stake: Sheila Blanchard, Joan Spitaleri, Editor; Mary Phelan Butler, Art Editor; Jean Doherty, Associate Editor; and Alice Marie Connors.

QUARTERLY

CREATIVE AMBITION that molds inspired moments into a literary magazine: this is Quarterly. Including both the scholarly and spontaneous, it finds scope for politics and plays, philosophy and fiction, poetry and criticism. From articles on Comus to modern "fairy tales," the Quarterly staff shapes diverse materials into one major issue.

TATLER

TATLER, the college newspaper, serves the campus community through its bi-monthly publications. With a working staff of over fifty students, it presents a lively coverage of current campus events, interesting features, student opinion, and a student-focused world news. Combining its collegiate outlook with high journalistic standards, Tatler attunes a search for knowledge to the demand of deadlines.

Meet the press—and the printer Mr. Berkowitz. First row: Elizabeth Trotta, Katherine Hourin, Maureen Frayne, Mary Lou Norton, Editor; and Roberta Arrigoni. Standing in rear: Joan Manuszak and Mary Ann Walker.

SPEECH

THE SPEECH DEPARTMENT is focused on the spoken word: its mission, its power, and its beauty. Through radio and public speaking courses, Mother Margaret has deeply impressed us with its mission. Mother Winifred has enthusiastically guided us in giving its power to others through Speech Therapy and Teaching. And Dr. Vergara, with her inimitable charm, has opened for us the world of beauty in poetry and the theatre.

Mother M. Margaret, Ph.D., and Mother M. Winifred, A.M.

ASSEMBLY BOARD

THE ASSEMBLY BOARD seeks to present the student body with an intelligent introduction to a wide variety of fields. It systematically investigates the needs of the student body and answers them through lectures and artistic performances at the bi-monthly college meetings. Through the eyes of various experts, we have discovered this year much of the beauty of the fine arts.

Dr. Allys D. Vergara and Fran Choquette, President of the Assembly Board, discuss the general topic of fine arts for the year's program.

A debatable point has risen among the council: Mary Ellen Fisher, Sheila Smith, President; Mother Winifred, Dr. Eugene Fontinell, Lois Reynolds, and Fran Choquette.

COUNCIL OF DEBATE

COUNCIL OF DEBATE, by sponsoring open discussions and mock elections, promotes interest in current events and controversies. Off-campus lectures, the faculty-student debate, and the many intercollegiate debates provide information and stimulation for audience and participants alike.

PROPS AND PAINT

TO PROVIDE THE FINEST campus entertainment, to contribute to college projects, and to enrich the theatrical interests of its members: this is the three-fold aim of Props.

*Penny Collenberg, as Alexandra, tries to explain a woman's heart to the tutor in a scene from The Swan.*

The works of Shakespeare, Goldsmith, and Molnar live once more on Chidwick stage. The Christmas pageant and Mission Booth add to the spirit of traditional CNR celebrations. And the Props meetings reveal an ever-active dramatics workshop within the organization.

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENTS

THE MODERN LANGUAGE concentrator traces the philosophical and literary trends of the major European civilization from the past through the present. The French students commence with a survey of the main currents in French literature with Mother Alphonsus, continue with the grandeur of the classical age with Mother Saint George, and conclude with a study of contemporary literature with Doctor Vallerie. The Spanish students analyze the intricacies of grammar with Señorita Campana and then proceed to assimilate Latin American and Spanish literature under the supervision of Señora Becerra. Directed by Doctor Huffman, the German students try to achieve ease in conversation, familiarity with German culture, and the ability to read major authors such as Goethe, Storm, Schiller, and Lessing.

Signora Maria Becerra, A.M.

Mother M. St. George, Ph.D., and Mother M. Alphonsus, Ph.D., share Ann Ten Eyck's reaction to the recently installed linguaphones.

Dr. Josephine E. Vallerie, sparks the weekly thé causerie with plans to attend a Ghéon play. Seated with her are members of Le Cercle Jeanne d'Arc: Mary Jo Christy, Jacqueline Com, Marilyn Curry, Joyce Derrick, Connie Perry, Maggie Houlihan, President; and Peggy Rucquoi.

Dr. Dorothy M. Huffman finds new friends for Faust in members of Der Edelweiss Kranz, Janet Lindstrom and Kathryn Holzkä, President.

LANGUAGE CLUBS

THE LANGUAGE CLUBS assimilate culture and provide an opportunity for the student to know and appreciate the customs of the land whose language she is studying. Le Cercle Jeanne d'Arc discusses pertinent subjects en français at the weekly thé causerie which are supplemented by Doctor Vallerie's slides of France. El Centro Hispano makes excursions to New York where the members hablan español while sampling Spanish culinary skill. The friendly meetings of Der Eidelweiss Kranz are highlighted by discussions auf Deutsch, group singing, Doctor Huffman's colorful slides and pictures from Germany, and special events such as the Christmas play and dinner at a German restaurant.

After telling of her summer in Mexico, Barbara Kearns, President of El Centro Hispano, plans a local expedition with Catherine Perkinson and Nina Filipino.

Mother M. Regis, A.M., and Mother M. Celeste, A.M.

CLASSICS

ANTIQUITY STANDS FORTH with modern appeal as we unearth the foundations of our Western heritage in Classical Civilization with Mother Celeste and Mother Mary. For those who seek the original song of the Muses, Mother Regis is the gentle guide through the metrical meanings of Horace, the subtle clarity of Plato.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT has introduced us to the dignity of liturgical music and the loveliness of opera and symphony. Some of us study them in terms of harmony, counterpoint, and form; others interpret their beauty through voice or instrument. All have been enriched by our contacts with the world's great music.

Mother M. Gerald, A.M., Mrs. Alice Tobin Branagan, A.M., and Mrs. Marie Antos, Mus.M.

"Blend together as one voice!" Mother Gerald urges Glee Club members. First row: Francine Corcoran, Andrée Lejeune, President; Rosemary Cummings. Second row: Claire Porcell, Pat McGinnis, Betty Dillon, and Mary Alice Rendich.

GLEE CLUB

TO RE-CREATE A THING OF BEAUTY for its own sake is the primary aim of Glee Club. Under the sensitive direction of Mother Gerald, we discover the camaraderie and sense of artistry that can come from a love of song. Spring concert and socials with neighboring men's colleges color our year with the enjoyment of sharing a mutual appreciation of good music.

Ernest Thorne Thompson and Florence M. Thompson.

ART DEPARTMENT

THAT SHE MAY JUDGE the beauty of nature and art, that she may create beautiful things herself, the CNR art student is introduced to a vast curriculum of training that develops both her aesthetic appreciation and her artistic production. Mrs. Thompson guides and encourages us in designing jewelry and interiors; Mr. Thompson, in the techniques of water color and portrait painting; Mother Basil and Mother Justin, in ceramics and drawing, graphic arts, and the history of art.

Mother M. Basil, M.F.A., and Mother M. Justin, A.M., show Pat Doherty plans for the new art building.

Arnold Thurm, A.M., and Charles C. Daly, A.M.

Mr. Thurm instructs us in design and advertising; Mr. Daly, in photography, fashion, and textile. We absorb here a rich cultural heritage and perpetuate it either in the teaching of art to others or in any of the myriad fields of commercial art.

Artists relax a moment for a Dauber discussion: Pat O'Connor, Dolores Rizzo, President, and Diane Martel.

DAUBERS

THE FAMILY SPIRIT of the Art Department is especially fostered in Daubers. All art majors meet monthly to progress as a group in the knowledge of art and fellow artists. Lecturers acquaint us with new fields; and club projects, with new faces.

Science Building

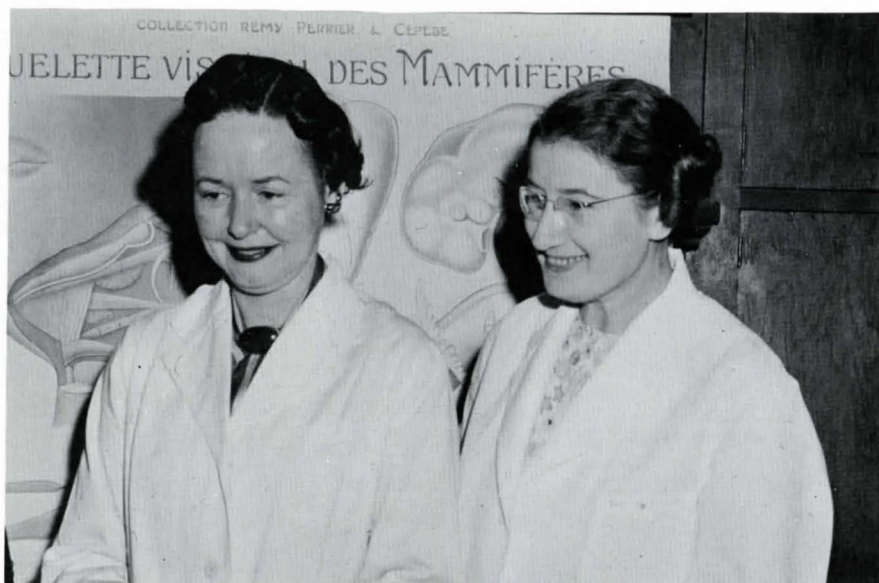

Mother M. Bonaventure, Ph.D.

BIOLOGY

THE BIOLOGY MAJOR, in studying the intricate structure and function of the species of life, seeks that natural truth which is a reflection of all Truth. Dr. Rogick and Miss Connell offer expert direction in the analytic perusal of zoology and botany. In seminar, Mother Bonaventure guides us in our growing knowledge of science as it is related to the understanding of man.

Mary Grace Connell, A.M., and Mary Dora Rogick, Ph.D.

THETA SIGMA

THETA SIGMA SEEKS TO ENLARGE the student's knowledge of science and to present new theories and activities for her interest. With the aid of selected films, lectures, discussions, and field trips, the club emphasizes the practical application of theoretical study and stimulates curiosity—the seed of science.

The origin of this species holds special intrigue for Theta Sigma members: Rosemary Fisher, Antoinette Abraham, President, and Marcelle Willock.

James McBride, Ph.D.

CHEMISTRY

LATE LABS AND LONG FORMULAS, carbon compounds and precise research techniques are essential elements for the chemistry major's probing into the properties of the material universe. From Mother Aloysius, we acquire our first knowledge of a world of pipettes and beakers through the fundamentals of General Chemistry. Dr. McBride directs us in the synthesis of acids and alkaloids, qualitative and quantitative analysis, and the measurement of physical properties.

Bernard Cioffari, Ph.D.

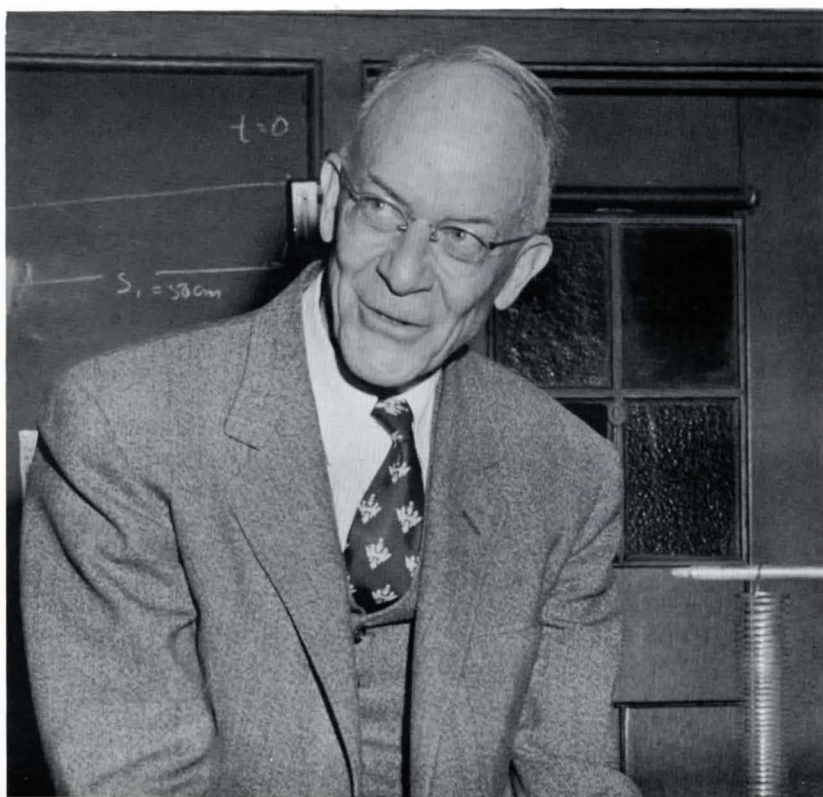

Mother M. Ursula, M.S., and Mother M. Ancilla, M.S.

MATHEMATICS AND PHYSICS DEPARTMENT

IN MATHEMATICS AND PHYSICS we seek the "whys" as well as the "hows." We see the magnificence of man's mental capacities and strive to develop our own. Mother Ancilla and Mother Ursula introduce us to algebra, geometry, and analysis. Our seminars give us a unified view of our major and its relation to history and philosophy. Dr. Cioffari leads us through the complexities of atomic physics and calculus and with Mr. Hussey we explore the world of mechanics, light, and electricity.

Arthur B. Hussey, A.M.

Chidwick

HISTORY DEPARTMENT

DR. SHEEDY AND MR. TALLEY bring us to a deeper understanding of the story of man in Europe through the ages. With Mother Mary Alice and Mother Roberta we explore the problems presented by the history of our own country and come to a greater realization of our American heritage. Father Maher helps us to know and appreciate our Christian cultural heritage and the history of our Latin American neighbors.

Anna T. Sheedy, L.L.B., Ph.D.

Eldon M. Talley, A.M., and Reverend Thomas F. Maher, Ph.D.

A World's Fair is assembled as IRC members display objects of international interest. Here Yupin Lee of Siam points out the intricate pattern of the headpiece worn in Siamese classical dancing to Maria Schrom, Fulbright student from Austria, Thérèse Noustas of Haiti, Sheila Blanchard, IRC President, and Marcelle Willock of British Guiana.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

IRC PROMOTES STUDENT PARTICIPATION in international events by encouraging attendance at UN panels and fairs, by developing interest in America's relations abroad, and by opening the way for contact with foreign students through its lectures and its social events. IRC delegates, its board, and members are closely allied with other campus organizations, too, working throughout the year on projects with NSA, NFCCS, the Mission Club, and Language Clubs.

Anne Rippon, A.M., and Margaret M. Bedard, Ph.D.

SOCIOLOGY

WITH THE UNDERSTANDING DIRECTION OF DR. BEDARD, assisted by a competent newcomer, Miss Rippon, the sociology student discovers man as he exists in society. Our diversified program is both speculative and practical. Learning the general principles of family counseling, criminology, and social welfare, we apply them in case studies and actual social work.

ECONOMICS

DEALING WITH THE PRACTICAL ASPECTS of economics in statistics, accounting, and business organization, Dr. Kacmarynski takes apart for us the internal machinery of the business world. Mr. Connolly helps us apply this specific knowledge in the world-wide terms of economic history through such subjects as international trade and business cycles.

John E. Connolly, A.M., and Louis F. Kacmarynski, Ph.D.

SOCIOLOGY CLUB

THE AIM OF THE SOCIOLOGY CLUB is to supplement classroom activities by a more extensive association with the field. Lectures given by social workers, field trips to institutions and slum areas, and baby sitting during Sunday Mass are our principal means to this.

One of many Sociology Club activities: Carole Dinneen, and Ann Grady, President, visit Friendship House in New York City.

GIRL SCOUTS

IN A VARIETY OF ACTIVITIES as all-embracing as the Girl Scout program, our assistant leaders discover opportunities for creativity in the giving of skills and self. Whether building bonfires, planning field trips, or conducting troop meetings, they provide valued service to the off-campus community. They live, as well as teach, the Scout pledge "to help other people at all times."

Glenna Faller and Janet Spence enjoy the respectful confidence of their charges.

Francis J. Sullivan, M.Ed., and Frances T. Hendrick, A.M.

EDUCATION

THE PROPER EQUIPMENT OF THE TEACHER—both theory and practical application—is well provided by the education department. Mr. Sullivan inculcates the all-important theoretical notions contained in the history and philosophy of education; Miss Hendrick adds the practical methodology; practice teaching brings these to life—and a teacher is made.

PRACTICE TEACHING

AS THE CULMINATION OF THE EDUCATION PROGRAM, prospective teachers spend a semester translating theory into practice. It is a time of discovering hidden talents, realizing all that must yet be learned, and enjoying thoroughly unforgettable experiences.

Senior year presents a paradoxical situation as student becomes student-teacher. Cynthia Edwards hopes she is meeting some scholars in the making.

Mother M. Berenice, Ph.D.

PSYCHOLOGY

CHARTING STATISTICS, writing children's books, taking and giving psychological tests: all this is part of a "psych" major's attempt to understand the subtle "hows" and "whys" of human behavior. Having mastered the deviations from the normal in Mental Hygiene, we study specific age groups in Adolescent Psychology and in Mother Berenice's classes at the Child Study Center. Through lecture and lab work, Miss Saelens introduces us to some aspects of experimental and abnormal psychology. In seminar sessions, we trace theories on human behavior in analyzing various schools of psychology—or see it through Dr. Wightwick's discussions as applied in present day industry and society.

Elizabeth Saelens, A.M.

Mother M. Berenice, Ph.D.

PSYCHOLOGY

CHARTING STATISTICS, writing children's books, taking and giving psychological tests: all this is part of a "psych" major's attempt to understand the subtle "hows" and "whys" of human behavior. Having mastered the deviations from the normal in Mental Hygiene, we study specific age groups in Adolescent Psychology and in Mother Berenice's classes at the Child Study Center. Through lecture and lab work, Miss Saelens introduces us to some aspects of experimental and abnormal psychology. In seminar sessions, we trace theories on human behavior in analyzing various schools of psychology—or see it through Dr. Wightwick's discussions as applied in present day industry and society.

Elizabeth Saelens, A.M.

Sports Building

THE SPORTS BUILDING

COLLEGE OF NEW ROCHELLE

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

FALL, WINTER, SPRING—the Athletic Association presents a slate of sports activities for any ability or inclination, competitive or social. An Olympic rating is not a prerequisite—sportsmanship is emphasized more than skill. Constructive recreation, social relaxation, and just plain fun combine in the intramural competitions, the tournaments, Play Days, and square dances. After months of cooperative effort each class presents a water spectacle in "Swimphony," that forms the highlight of the season.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

MISS MORRISSEY AND MISS LEVACHÉ have made our gym sessions a welcome change from classroom routine. In the general sports of freshman year, they turned even the aching muscles into a source of satisfaction. In sophomore year, through their expert instruction in the skills of team and individual sports, we came to realize the lasting values of sportsmanship and fair play.

Kathleen LeVache, A.M., and Anne M. Morrissey, A.M.

AA Board members toss problems around lightly: Myrna Rickus, President; Ann TenEyck, Helen Doherty, and Roberta Miller.

Mimi Rice and Pat Cain seem optimistic about senior prospects in field hockey.

Target practice: Mary Ann Walker has her thoughts on dead center.

KING OF LOVE

redeemed us with Your blood our God a kingdom.

United in Christ Jesus Who is King of Love, we have shared our daily activities, the growth of four years, the bond of friendship. We have realized that a woman's strength is the generosity of love and her glory a love rooted "in Christ Jesus."

CAROL BRENNAN
President of the Student Body

The Advisory Board. First row (l.-r.): Letitia Brennan, Jacqueline Berean, Ann Ten-Eyck, Elizabeth Seidel, Carol Brennan, Sue Ann Hintz, Phyllis Safarik, Joan Bray, Rosemarie Zaffino, Mary McAniff. Second row: Mary Mitchell, Roslyn Spanyol, Marue English, Margaret Vogel, Mary Kieran, Sue Rogers, Margaret Smith, Barbara Hendricks, Mary Baker.

ADVISORY BOARD

OFFICIALLY LINKING THE STUDENTS with the administration and faculty, the Advisory Board performs a vital and far-reaching function on campus. These elected representatives from each class have sought the realization of student government's aim—the facilitation, guidance, and improvement of all facets of student life, faculty-student relations, and the curriculum. Theirs has been the ideal of unstinting service to the college community.

Carol Brennan signs the oath of office before receiving from Mother Dorothea the blue tassel of honor and responsibility.

"Serviam" in one of its many aspects: Rosemary Zaffino conducts the Wednesday sale of sign-out slips.

Putting heads together as campus club presidents assemble: Phyllis Van de Car, President of SAC, leads a discussion of proposals while Virginia Ketterson, Head of the Steering Committee, takes notes.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES COUNCIL

COMPOSED OF THE PRESIDENTS of clubs and activities, SAC aims at coordinating campus organizations. Useful and varied extracurricular programs are encouraged through mutual projects, especially for those clubs with similar interests. The Steering Committee directs the yearly program for the organization as a whole.

N.S.A.

THE NATIONAL STUDENT ASSOCIATION provides a dynamic means of sharing ideas on the intercollegiate level. Through representation and participation in campus, regional, and national programs—as those in the student-government, academic, co-curricular, and international areas—New Rochelle strives to grow in a realization of the rights and responsibilities of the student community.

Elizabeth Erisman, Delegate, Ann Van Gorder, and Rowena Larkin keep NSA files up-to-date.

NFCCS

THE MISSION OF NFCCS on college campuses is one of aiding campus clubs, sponsoring intercollegiate activities, and acting as a national spokesman for the students of member colleges. On this campus NF is well represented by the ceaseless work of the delegates, by the National and Regional Family Life Commission, and by affiliation with a number of other commission fields, ranging in scope from campus publications to philosophy.

CNR students among the participants in the NFCCS Regional Congress include: Elizabeth McGowan, Brenda Hayes, Mary Carol Cahill, Jeanne Cona, Lillian Mehlretter, NFCCS Delegate; Kay Frances Schepp, National Chairman of the Family Life Commission; and Ellen Welch.

Entrance

Piers

At home with CNR now, the freshmen already find mutual coöperation putting new experiences into words.

CLASS OF '60

ARRIVAL ON CAMPUS that first day is followed by many new experiences that gradually become familiar and fall into a pattern. Imperceptibly a growth begins—spiritually, intellectually, socially—as the freshman identifies herself with the tradition of New Rochelle.

Investiture—and the Class of '60 emerges.

Pursuit of the arts begins in earnest for these freshmen.

First ladies and first leaders: Catherine Smith, Treasurer; Rosemary Cummins, Secretary; Louise Toussainte, President; and Margaret Kelly, Vice-President.

What price glory? Freshmen learn that history chapters and biology midterms are part of a college education.

Informal sessions in Maura introduce them to Father Quinn.

THE CLASS OF '60 has responded to the challenge of CNR tradition with eager and diligent participation. Their scrapbooks receive those first souvenirs with the passing of Investiture, the first Christmas Dinner, and the Freshman Informal.

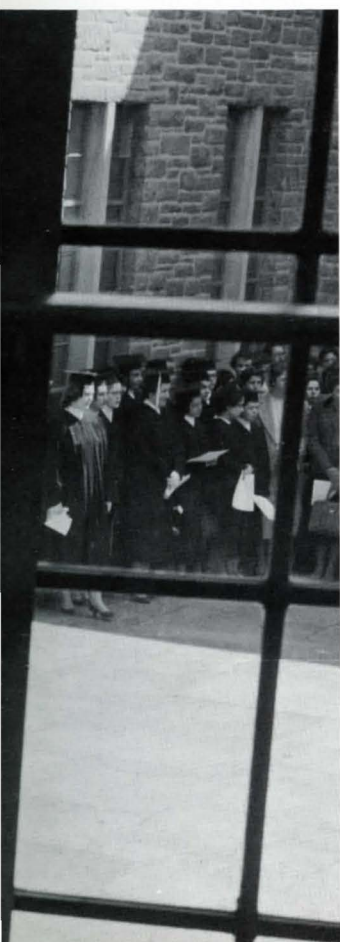

A developing class watches with interest plans for campus growth. Sophomore class officers: Patricia Scully, Secretary; Mary Kieran, President; Olga Antignani, Vice-President; Mary Ann Runkle, Treasurer.

Tassel turning: "Where, oh where, are the verdant freshmen?
Safe, now, in the sophomore class."

More spring fever than sophomoritis.

CLASS OF '59

SOPHOMORE YEAR and bewilderment give way to easy assurance. The girl on the right in Botany, known vaguely as "Miss ———," becomes a person. As sophomores, the Class of '59 have grown spiritually, through the realization of a living liturgy; intellectually, through the depth of a newly chosen field of concentration; and socially, through the expanding friendships of the CNR family. As our sister class, they have helped us to grow through their friendly love and respect.

Sophomore Cotillion: a princess from the Cinderella Ball.

New outlooks on life.

When term papers have been handed in—or it just isn't the moment to do one.

Barbara Testa adds to the atmosphere of a Parisian café.

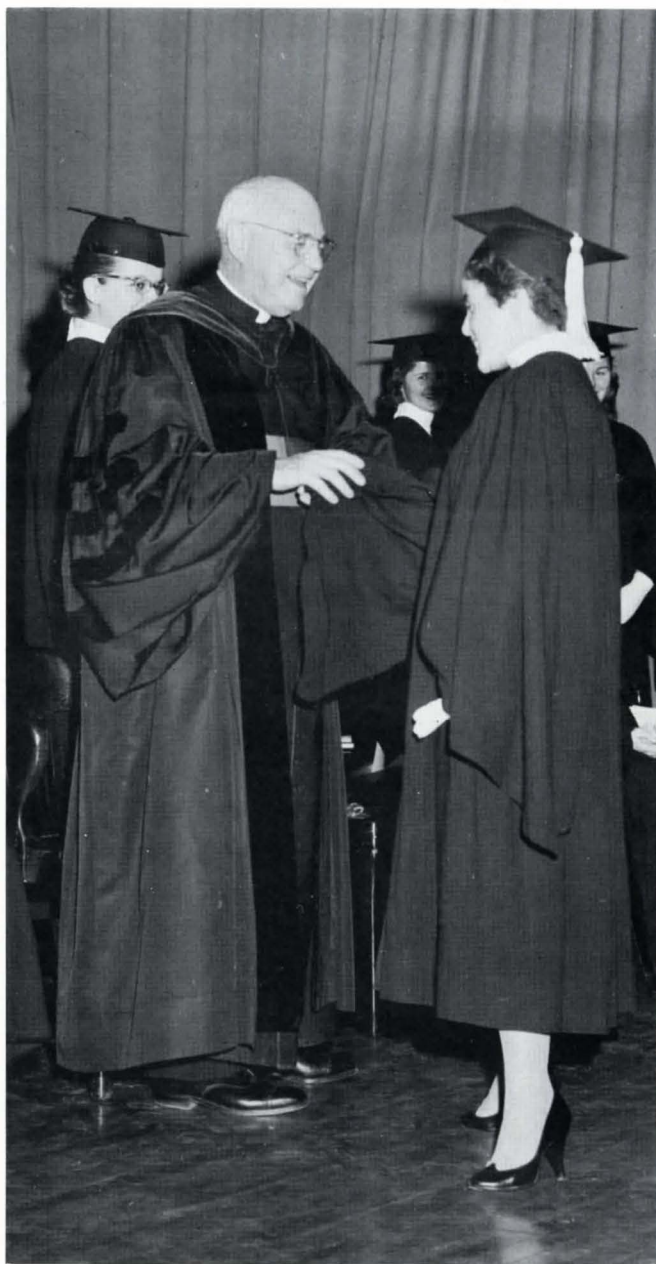

With joy in their hearts the Class of '58 proudly examine their newly received rings.

Curled up in front of the TV, some juniors become absorbed in the latest programs.

CLASS OF '58

FRESHMAN SISTERS, the thrill of class rings, Junior Show, Prom weekend: these are but a few of the things that turn "gay young sophomores" into "jolly juniors." New responsibilities as upperclassmen add new depth to class spirit. And this year especially we realize what it means to be a class—at CNR.

The junior class president, Letitia Brennan, receives the distinctive blue tassel from Monsignor Walsh.

"Listen close while we describe our merits
We are talented and polished."

"For he's so handsome and so tall
Makes my poor heart bounce, just like a rubber ball."

THE DELICATE GAYETY of "By Special Request" was the expression of '58's versatility. We watched in wonder as gingerbread boy and rag doll captured the spirit of toyland. One year away from our own production, we recognized behind the story of dolls and dollmaker the special story of talent, ingenuity, and coöperation.

"A friend is just the greatest thing—he's near you when you need him."

What does it mean to be?

Taking a moment from a busy day are: Letitia Brennan, President; Patricia Kenny, Secretary; Patricia Clancy, Vice-President; Janet Stafstrom, Treasurer.

LIVING UP to the intellectual standards of CNR, the Class of '58 now enters wholeheartedly into seminars and discussions of being as such. With the enthusiasm traditional in juniors, they assume new class projects and give added stimulus to campus activity. With like enthusiasm, we welcome them as our successors.

Maura Hall

SENIOR YEAR and the fullness of CNR tradition is realized. We develop now as individual members of the family—in our plans and ambitions. But let us show you—

ANTOINETTE T. ABRAHAM

Fall River, Massachusetts

Biology

Ann's is the gift of quiet laughter. As president of Theta Sigma, she has brought to maturity her vital interest in things scientific. In friendship, she is loyal; in traveling, adventuresome; in all things, poised and warm-hearted.

JANE ELLEN ABRAMS

Harrison, New York

Psychology

The ease of graciousness, a flair for fashions, and winning ways with children mark Jane's own brand of femininity. Even-tempered yet spontaneously friendly, equally adept at knitting argyles or playing the piano, she tones an instinctively bright disposition with natural grace.

MARY ELLEN AHEARN

Belle Harbor, New York

English

Gentle wonder gives intensity to Mary Ellen's seriousness. Whimsical humor with an English accent balances it. Able to blend the pensive and droll, visionary and practical, to delight with affability and dramatic touches, she is a master of appealing arts.

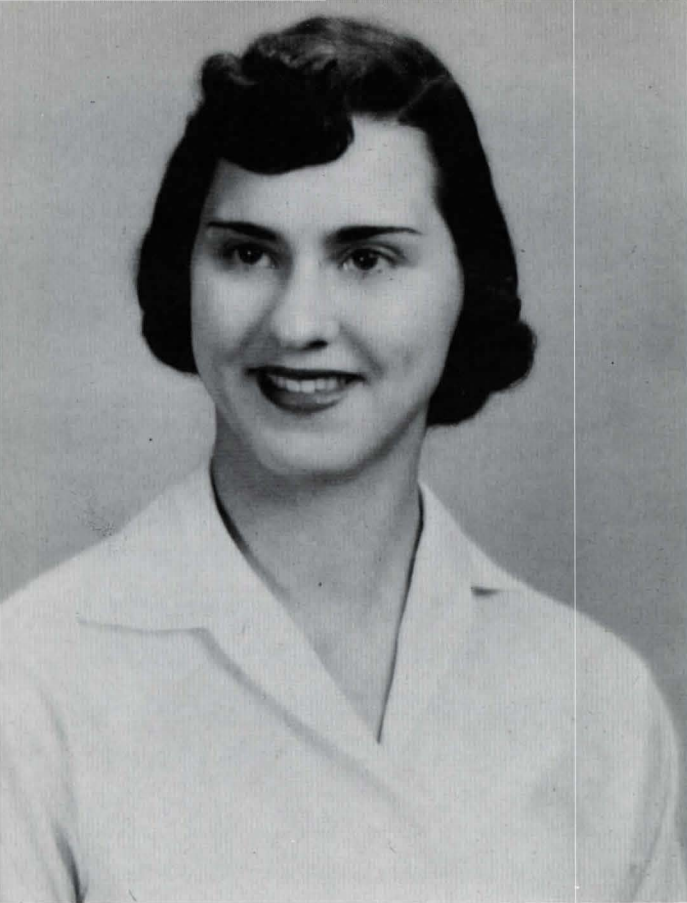

JOAN ANNE ALPI

Elmhurst, New York

Biology

An unpretentious manner, cryptic wit, diligence, and determination: these are especially Joan's. Our seasoned traveler can claim many capabilities, from accomplishing a task with intelligence and precision to meeting all situations with forthrightness.

MARY JANE ANDREWS

Holyoke, Massachusetts

Spanish

Mary Jane impresses us first with her warmth and super-generosity. Then she intrigues us with her active mind and energetic will. And soon, she's entertaining us with a good game of bridge and singularly original conversation.

MARY L. BARNES

New York, New York

Biology

Whether sparking a discussion with her wit or describing an experience as only she can, Mary pours an unlimited energy into all her activities. She is the analytic scientist, the unfailing humorist, and the generous, untiring worker.

MARY MICHAELA BARTLEY

Tuckahoe, New York

English

A preference for pastels, a passion for dresses with bows, a laugh which unfailingly brings tears to her eyes tell us it's Mickie. Instinctively artistic, she views the world through poet's eyes—finding the beautiful in the true.

GRACE MARIE BEATTIE

Cedarhurst, New York

Sociology

A genuinely enthusiastic desire to serve people sparks Grace's interest in sociology. From a penetrating apprehension of what is important in life, she derives calm strength; from an instinctive realization of the delightful in everyday situations, piquant humor.

JACQUELINE ALICE BEREAN

Highland, New York

Biology

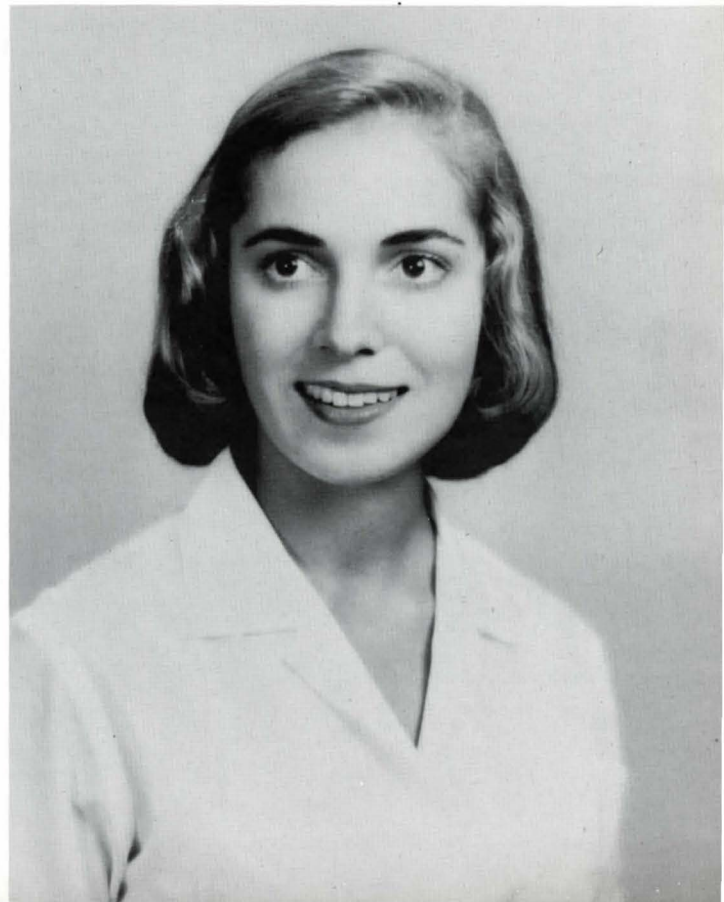

Quick, loving responsiveness to the ideas and feelings of others is Jackie's most outstanding virtue. A modest reserve saves for those who know and love her well an equally strong comic wit, sharp perception, able responsibility, and Christian dedication.

MADELEINE T. BOURRE

Woonsocket, Rhode Island

English

A spring bouquet! Sparkling freshness and buoyant gladness combine to enhance Maddie's distinctive charm. Whether playing bridge, discussing the latest movie, or engaging in a vital seminar discussion she personifies disarming poise and enjoyment of life.

VIRGINIA E. BRADY

Corning, New York

Biology

Seemingly reserved, Ginny surprises all with a dry wit. This tailored miss adds an air of refinement and quiet feminine dignity to the simplest task. We have seen the warmth behind her independence and realize her friendship as a lasting gift.

JOAN THERESA BRAY

New York, New York

English

With serene intelligence Joan has led us, casting finely-wrought values into selfless action. To her belong responsiveness that finds delight in song or challenge in student problems; word-wisdom that inspires and creates; womanly grace that expresses a gentle strength of love.

CAROL MARY BRENNAN

Tuckahoe, New York

Classics

Admiration of the classical, appreciation of the contemporary, anticipation of the coming culminate in Carol. Direct and generous, Carol brings perceptive warmth into mature leadership. Deep sincerity with the courageous devotion of Christian conviction, makes Carol respected and loved.

JOAN M. BRENT

New York, New York

History

Quiet industry accomplishing divergent projects with ease, practical optimism finding a subtle expression in dry humor, and intellectual intensity quickened by spiritual perception: this is Joan, in whom an inviting warmth blends with all her gracious ways.

GAIL ELIZABETH BROUGH

Fayetteville, New York

Art

Successfully coalescing dreaminess and dependability, Gail has utilized her rare artistic talent in a practical way. Possessor of a genteel savoir-faire and an attractive shyness, she senses the exquisitely real, le beau idéal, in all things that surround her.

MARIANNE B. BROWNE

Scarsdale, New York

English

Marianne effectively captures the essence of femininity and a natural air of sophistication. Mature and practical in outlook, competent and efficient in all her endeavors, she greets the world openly and calmly, with graciousness and poise manifested in all her actions.

MARLENE BUCKLEY

New York, New York

English

To those who know her, Marlene is a blend of reserve and warm interest in our joys and sorrows. We admire her self-sufficiency; we envy her dignified senior manner that covers the heart of a fun-loving freshman; we realize the selflessness of her love.

CATHLEEN CECILIA CAHILL

Endicott, New York

Economics

The practical, analytical mind of the economist finds true balance in Cathy's lively smile and charming manner. She expresses a quiet efficiency and optimistic philosophy through poise and deliberation—truly the stately senior; even more, a warm, outgoing woman.

ELIZABETH M. CAHILL
West Newton, Massachusetts

Economics

Beth thrives even amid confusion, always maintaining unruffled composure and soothing graciousness. With tactful oversight, she forgets to complain; with keen relish, she values both the modern and the traditional; with uncompromising strength, she shows forth a Christian maturity.

PATRICIA A. CAIN
Pittsfield, Massachusetts

Psychology

Take unconstrained exuberance expressed in bundles of energy for all activities, temper it with New England practicality, and soften it with open-hearted friendship. If you add a dash of airy nonchalance and a redhead's unpredictability, you have Pat.

ANN MARIE CALLAN

Middleboro, Massachusetts

Sociology

Ann has captured the magic of infectious laughter and the warmth of ingenuous sincerity. Her quiet dignity reflects deep faith and open trustfulness. A comprehensive grasp of the brighter side of life is a cheerful influence on her many friends.

CAROL A. CARNES
Hingham, Massachusetts

English

Carol has the understanding and gentility of a woman, the laughter and joy of a child, the heart of a dreamer, and the ideals of a philosopher. The sparkle of her charm invites companionship; the loyalty of her love wins friends.

AGNES MARIE CARROZZELLA

Wallingford, Connecticut

English

Sophisticate and ingenue, incurable romanticist and practical planner, Ag is an enchanting paradox of girl and woman. Translating vision into action, she pursues her daily activities with verve both heartening and contagious. In her we love a genuine goodness.

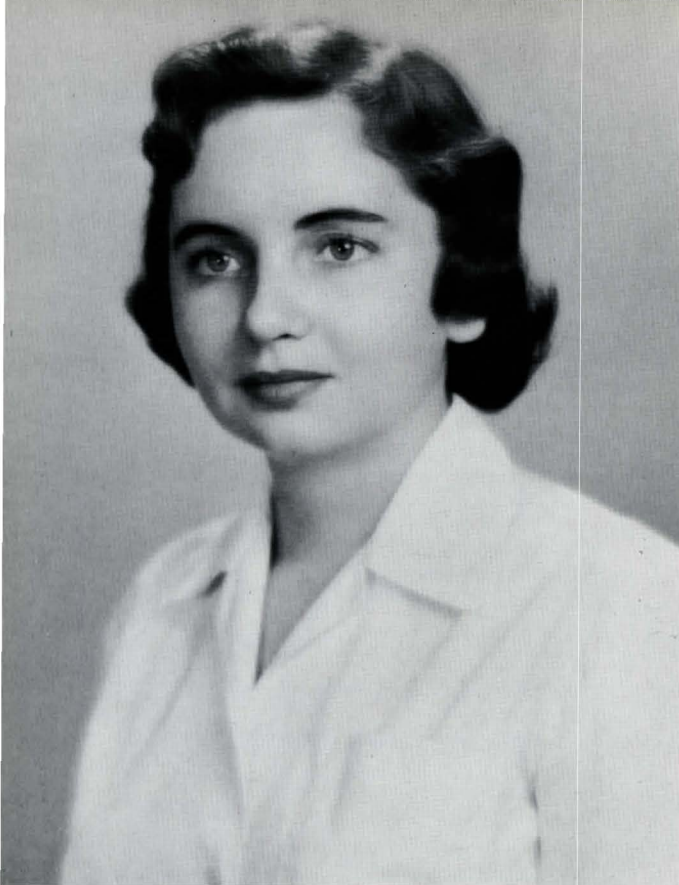

THERESE LOUISE CARUSONE

Glens Falls, New York

Sociology

Terry's field of concentration is people. Zealous sociologist, sympathetic confidante, or vivacious confrere, she is ever interested, warm, and effervescent. We have been impressed by her solicitude, convinced by her sincerity; and, above all, won by her ingenuousness.

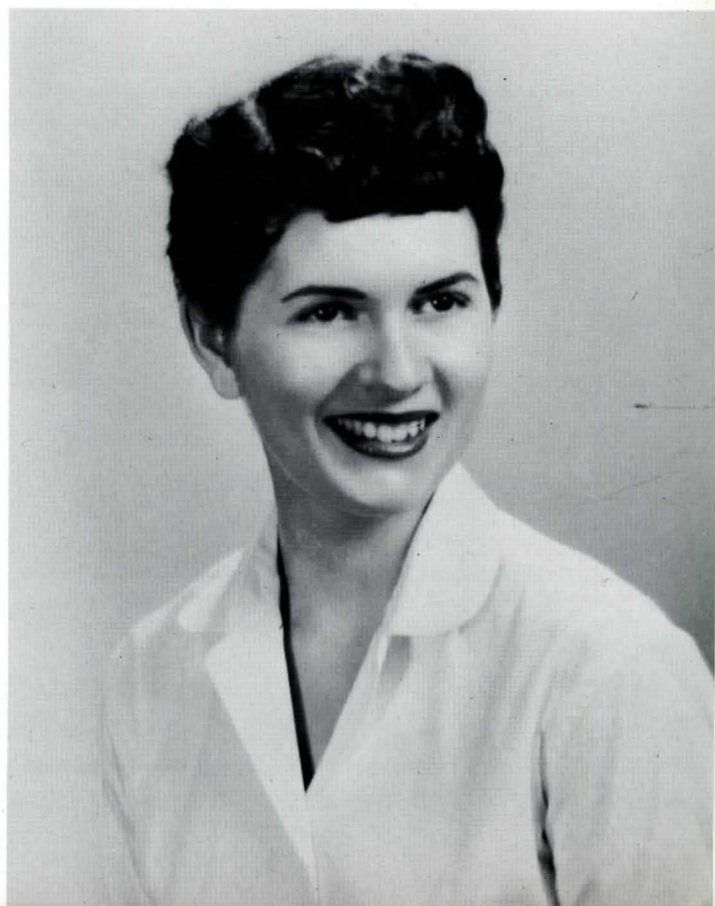

JOAN PATRICIA CASS
Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts
Sociology

Diminutive size, pert carriage, and a wide-eyed expression are the notes of Joan's charm. Sensible and practical, with a directness in speech and in thought, she refreshes us with her penetrating candor and stirs our admiration with her sensitivity to people.

JOAN MARIE CELAURO
Bronx, New York
English

Like a violet whose delicacy is never overwhelmed by the strength of its color, Joan is at once petite and grand, delicate and strong. Her efficient thoroughness is relieved by a scintillating wit and is governed by fidelity to principles.

LUCILLE MARIE CERINO

Bronx, New York

English

The quiet sincerity and thoughtfulness basic in her words and actions make Lucille's perpetual good-humor and her ever-ready laughter doubly appreciated. Her eagerness to help and her natural friendliness reflect a true and loving spirit.

FRANCES MARGARET CHOQUETTE

White Plains, New York

Speech-English

Bustling yet effortless—how else to describe Fran's inimitable brand of energy? As talented director of Lost and Found and gracious mistress of assemblies, she has expended it willingly. Jovial laughter sums up serene warmth, while high thoughts complement high spirits.

MARY JO CHRISTY
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania
French

Mary Jo is Main Street, U.S.A., enhanced by a distinct Parisian air, the souvenir of her studies at the Sorbonne. With competence and maturity Jo is primarily a doer. Sensitive and intelligent, she is also a conversationalist of the first order.

ROSEMARY ELIZABETH COFFEY
Yonkers, New York
English

A generous share of poise and a wisp of sophistication complement Rosemary's gentle manner. Intent in purpose, she assumes responsibility with deep conviction and a quiet maturity, approaching less serious situations with a disposition that is quick to enjoy laughter.

HELEN PAULA COLLINS

Springfield, Massachusetts

English

Helen is truly stately, yet she is never pretentious; she is a blend of dignity and humor, reserve and generosity. Whether in indulging in clever repartee or comprehending the Divine Comedy—in whirlwind activity or pensive mood—Helen excels.

JACQUELINE T. COM

Yonkers, New York

French

"Jolie Jacqueline," our American Parisienne, blends a delightful "joie de vivre" and m'lady's flair for fashion. Hers is the admired ability to disentangle herself effortlessly from the most complicated of circumstances. Fathomless energy, profusion of ideas, and warm enthusiasm leave us breathless.

JEANNE MARGARET CONA

Haledon, New Jersey

History

Jeanne radiates a calm, glowing dynamism. It enlivens her generosity and her earnest enthusiasm for the arts. It reflects a true appreciation of both the comical and the profound. Hers is a loving zeal to live a full Christianity.

ALICE MARIE CONNORS

Syracuse, New York

French

Marie has the connoisseur's keen knowledge and polished taste in music, literature, and art. Possessed of the sensitive nature of the artist, she is tactful and dependable in all situations, a mature personality and an understanding friend.

FRANCINE ELISABETH CORCORAN

Brookline, Massachusetts

Psychology

An irrepressible mirth lies half-concealed beneath an appealing reticence. Sunny in temperament, musical in ability, athletic in avocation, Francine enlivens her surroundings with a spontaneous joie de vivre and elevates them with a realistic idealism.

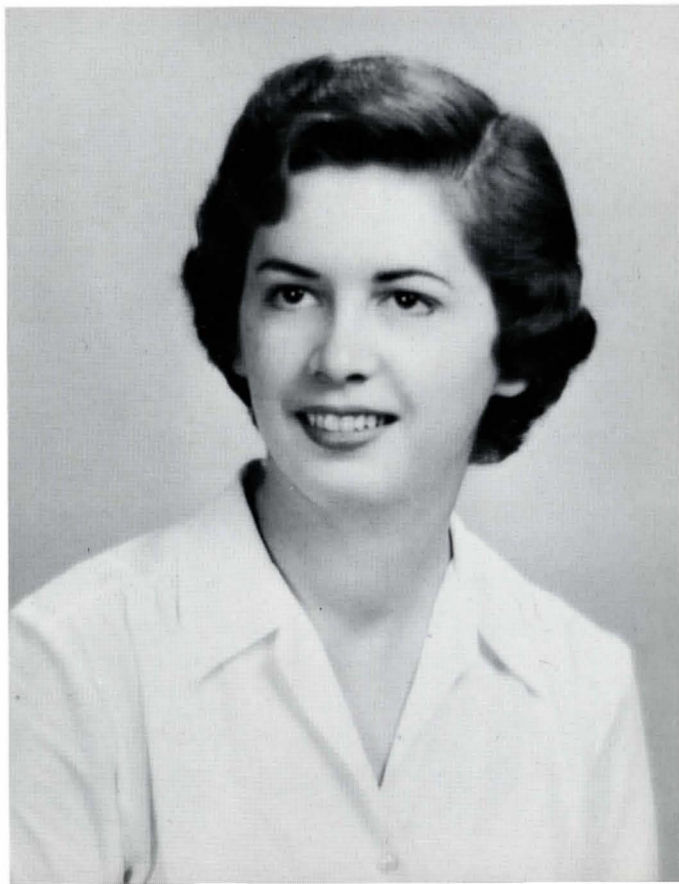

CATHERINE MARY CORGAN

Kingston, Pennsylvania

History

In Cathy's vital serenity we recognize a genial companion and a deeply-interested friend. With a penetrating grasp of the scope and significance of the Christian mission, she vibrates a fervent eagerness to serve, with a subtle humor, a happy sensitivity to fun.

+

INA FRANCES CREAGH

Wellesley, Massachusetts

Speech-English

An impish smile, and a Massachusetts drawl, assures us that all's right with the world. Ina's seriousness of purpose, sincere interest in the handicapped, and warm delicacy with children are complemented by her anticipation for the surprise in every new experience.

JULE ANGELA CUNNINGHAM

Crestwood, New York

English

Energetic, petite and gay; this is Julie. Her capacity for mischievous merriment lightens all her activities. This is only part of her vibrant personality—a very deep concern for all showing the wellspring of Catholicity in her heart.

MARILYN FRANCES CURRY

Jersey City, New Jersey

French

Her vitality must come from a constantly dynamic source for it extends from her chance conversations through every phase of her adventure in living. Marilyn, our "mademoiselle extraordinaire," finds adventure in the untried, achievement through conscientiousness, satisfaction in self-giving.

LORETTA M. D'AGOSTINO

Manhasset, New York

French

In cafeteria discussions, in French literature classes, in analyses of the student situation, Loretta's eager desire to understand his inspired our minds. Our hearts have been warmed by her joyful love which bursts forth in reassuring advice or refreshing mirth.

JEANNE B. DAVEY

New York, New York

Sociology

The snap in Jeanne's brown eyes mirrors her easy wit and ready laughter. Her keen mind is constantly seeking the truth. A sympathetic listener and trusted advisor, she has an unaffected thoughtfulness, and quiet compassion that knows no bounds.

DEBORAH MIRIAM DEE

Medford, Massachusetts

Art

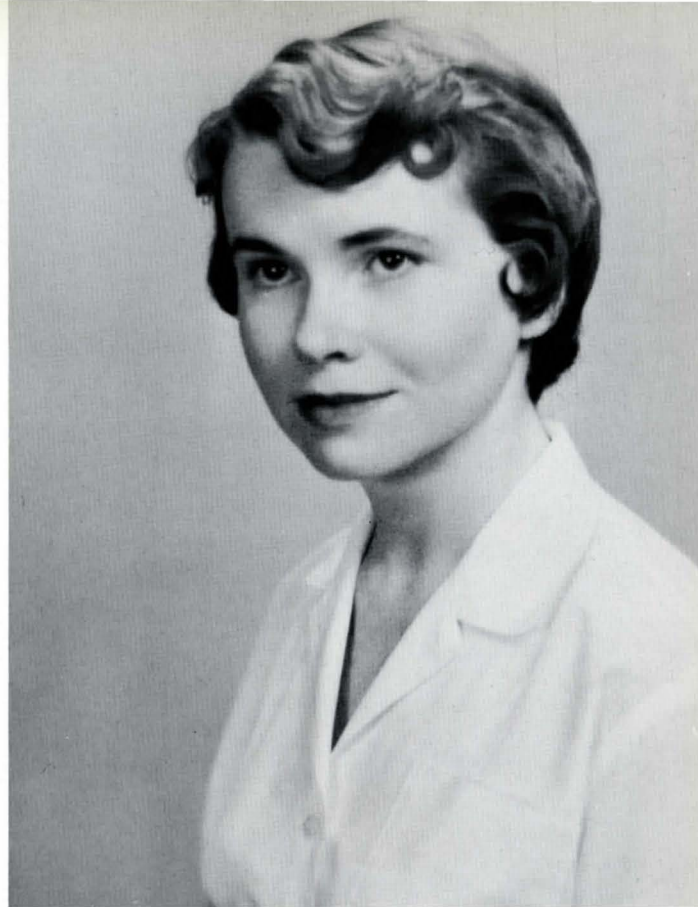

Debbie has delighted us with her wistful charm and her thoughtful smile. We have discovered, too, that beneath the artist lies a delicate candor, determination, and impartial loyalty, which are warmly expressed in enthusiasm, gaiety, and soft New England accents.

JOYCE DERRICK
New York, New York

French

Possessed of an inexhaustible energy for campus activities, Joyce is known for her Frenchisms, pert humor, and literary talent. She unites a self-contained maturity and independence of action with an ever-understanding amiability.

LURA DEVITT
Bronxville, New York

Psychology

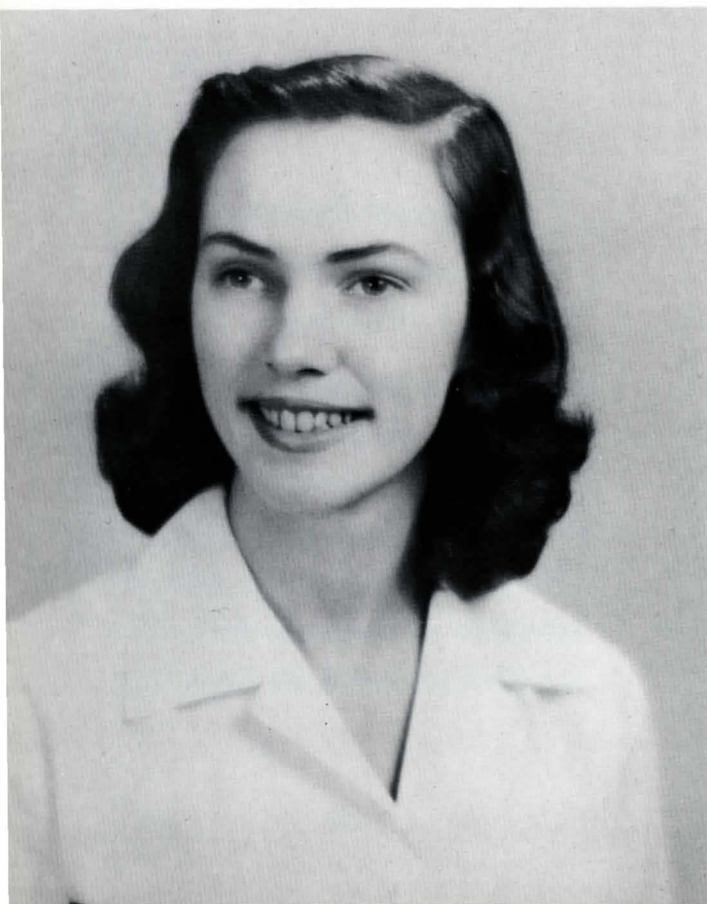

A song in her heart and melodies at her fingertips, music, that famous "Lura-laugh," an air of casual nonchalance: these blend in Lura. All things done effortlessly but efficiently with inexhaustible generosity give her a charm and depth unequaled and unique.

PATRICIA FRANCES DOHERTY

Newton Centre, Massachusetts

Art

Patsy has absorbed her solid New England heritage of common-sense, logic, and firm convictions. An artistic project may keep her busy or her droll humor create laughter, but she is ever characterized by true poise and steady equilibrium.

MARY VIRGINIA DONNELLY

Parkchester, New York

History

Mary blends laughing companionship, a collegian's enthusiasm, and a woman's wisdom. The integration of her personality reflects itself in her assured graciousness. Never without her tingling sense of the humorous, Mary's charm is exceeded only by her innate sense of Christian optimism.

Gael Frances Donoghue

Worcester, Massachusetts

English

Gael is spring in autumn, the unexpected delight of refreshing warmth and crisp briskness. With untroubled spirits, she captures the charm of light-heartedness; with steady judgment, she reflects the poise of definitive action; with elusive depth, she reaches astute understanding and thoughtful values.

Jo Anne Doyle

Ossining, New York

History

There's a spark in Jo's eyes which accompanies her hearty laugh and belies her serenity. Casual yet constructive, her enthusiasm is well directed. Whether on a prom committee, in a history seminar, or in easy camaraderie, Jo is as out-giving as she is outgoing.

MARY LYONS DURANT

Frankfort, New York

English

Constant good humor and refreshing carefreeness—Mary Lyons style—indicate a happy heart and hide a quiet spiritual depth. A flair for mischief and mirth is uniquely and finely tempered with open cordiality, acute perceptiveness, and vibrant affection.

CYNTHIA ANN EDWARDS

Bellport, New York

History

Pert aliveness with a dash of sophistication, Cindy blends efficiency with graciousness. Sureness and determination are basic in her approach to life, but sensitivity and subtle gentility contribute equally to her success. A modern woman, Cindy is forthright, capable, and sincere.

CAROLANN M. EGEL

New York, New York

History

Carolann is a happy blend of generosity and warm-hearted friendliness. Her impish humor and ready wit are always ready to burst forth when coffee break time arrives, and nothing delights her more than to leap into the fray of political discussion.

ELIZABETH JEAN ERISMAN

Greenfield, Massachusetts

English

Informal sings, heated discussions, or just leisurely conversation are incomplete without Betty. Her intense concern and love for the Mystical Body are expressed in her work as NSA delegate. Inspired by the liturgy, she radiates its splendor.

JOAN M. FAMILLETTI

Glen Cove, New York

Psychology

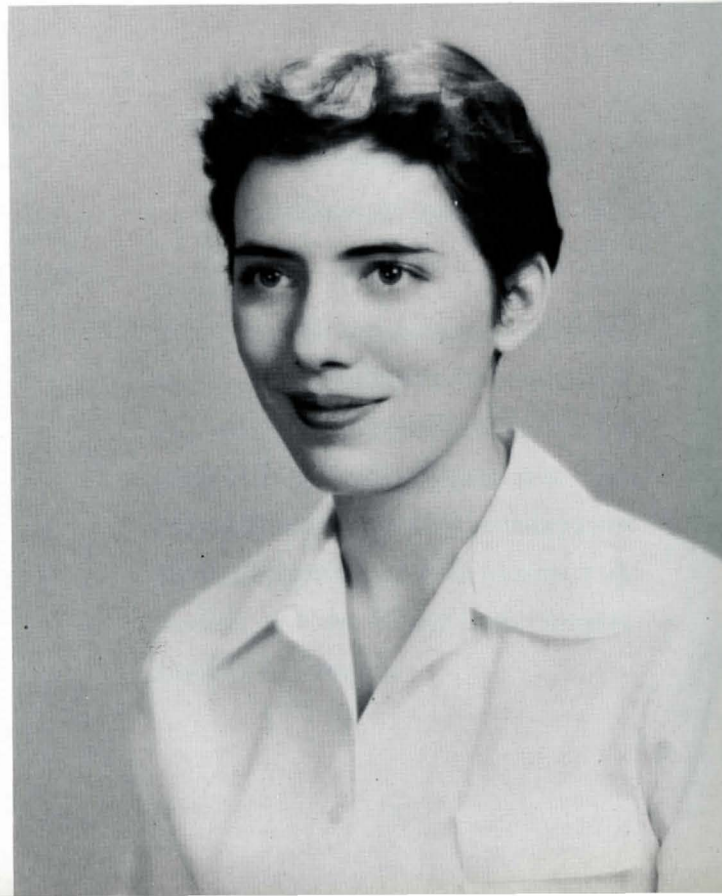

Joan's ever-witty exterior blends with intelligence, defined principles, self-reliance, and a keen humor that never fails to put others at ease. Her riotous skits will remain always as a gay and indelible memory of our college years.

DOROTHY ANN FELLEENZ

Edgewood, Maryland

English

Partly an angel and partly an imp, Dody descends upon you an often bewildering and always captivating combination of athlete, formidable bridge opponent, efficient stage manager, adventurous companion, and loyal confidante. Her high spirits are exceeded only by her enduring affections.

ROSEMARY M. FERACA

Scarsdale, New York

English

With infectious good spirits and a store of "bon mots" Rosemary has the happy faculty of keeping those around her entertained. A gay spirit belies her serenity, composure, and seriousness of purpose for things intellectual, spiritual, and aesthetic.

MARY ELLEN FISCHER

Manhasset, New York

Speech-English

Mary Ellen has a happy disposition that surrounds her with gay company. She has an unconscious efficiency that shoulders diverse responsibilities with ease. And she has a sweet sophistication that says she's someone special in a crowd or before a lectern.

ROSEMARY THERESA FISHER

Bellaire, New York

Biology

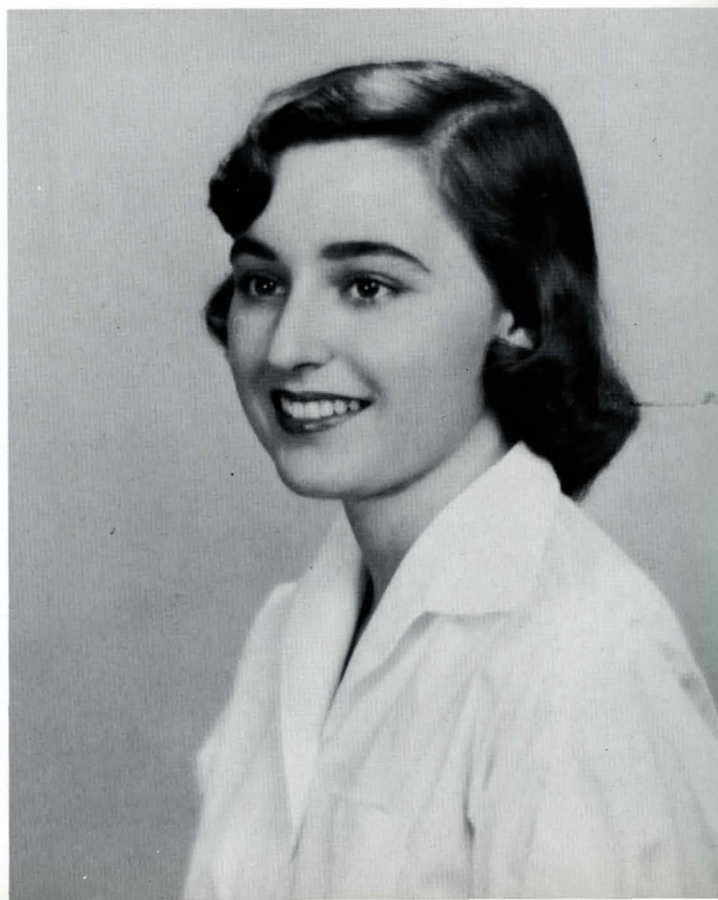

The sparkle in Rosie's eyes denotes her perennially gay and fresh approach to the world. Her spontaneous, contagious laugh quickly reveals the naturally humorous, while an Alice-in-Wonderland charm makes every situation a bright new one for Rosie.

VIRGINIA ANN FONTANA

Yonkers, New York

English

Ginny has a brand of naturalness and capable mastery of all situations that result in an unaffected self-assurance. A genuine artistic appreciation, gentleness in her concern for others, yet strength in the beliefs which rule her life raise Ginny above the ordinary.

MAUREEN DOLORES FRAYNE

Flushing, New York

English

Maureen's is the tireless efficiency of an Annales business manager combined with the imaginative literary sensitivity that gave us "Lost and Found." Loyalty and warm understanding punctuated by a dash of ingenuous candor make her a welcomed and well-loved friend.

CARLISLE G. GAINES

Larchmont, New York

Speech-English

Speaking eruditely (with a slight "you all" flavor) or entertaining at the keyboard, this widely-travelled miss displays a forceful personality. She is frank in voicing convictions and quick to live them. Candor rooted in sincere charity is Cardy's formula for enduring friendship.

CAROL MARIE GATTI

Washington, D. C.

English

Carol and casual, we have discovered, are synonymous for an unaffected, sincere approach to all things. Imperturbably easy-going, Carol remains distinctly individual, whether it be in her wry humor, her matter-of-factness, or her intelligent outlook on life.

MARY AGNES GAVAN

Bloomfield, New Jersey

Economics

With a heart always young Mary has a manner always refreshingly open. She spices good times with her wholesome fun and enriches relationships with her unique vitality. Warm and willing, she unobtrusively gives to others with consistent devotedness of self.

MARGARET T. GILLIGAN

New Rochelle, New York

History

A curiosity that is active and interested and a will geared to determination mean "Peggy" to us. Eager to learn and eager to give, she has a merry heart and a cheerful countenance. Petite in stature, she stands high in our esteem.

MURIEL JEANNE GOREY

Taunton, Massachusetts

Spanish

Careful planner and large-eyed pixie, vivified by practical jokes and wistful dreams of homemaking, Muriel cherishes the ivy-league tradition and the New England accent which has survived her talented acquisition of Spanish. She combines intensity in friendship, simplicity in love.

ANN PATRICIA GRADY

New Haven, Connecticut

Sociology

Refreshingly unpredictable as a summer shower, Annie couples a thoughtful interest in others with spontaneous gaiety. Her quick smile and innate gentleness reflect a joyous spirit of living Christianity. She is a winsome concoction of shamrocks, wit, and warmth.

ROSEMARY ANN GRAZIANO

Gloversville, New York

Speech-English

To perceive sensitively with a day-dreamer's smile, to give with ease, and to lend support with quiet leadership gift Rosemary with distinctive warmth. Sparking phrases and friendship by wealth of wit, she is an idealist with imagination, graciously apt in speech and sympathy.

SUZANNE GROARK

New London, Connecticut

Sociology

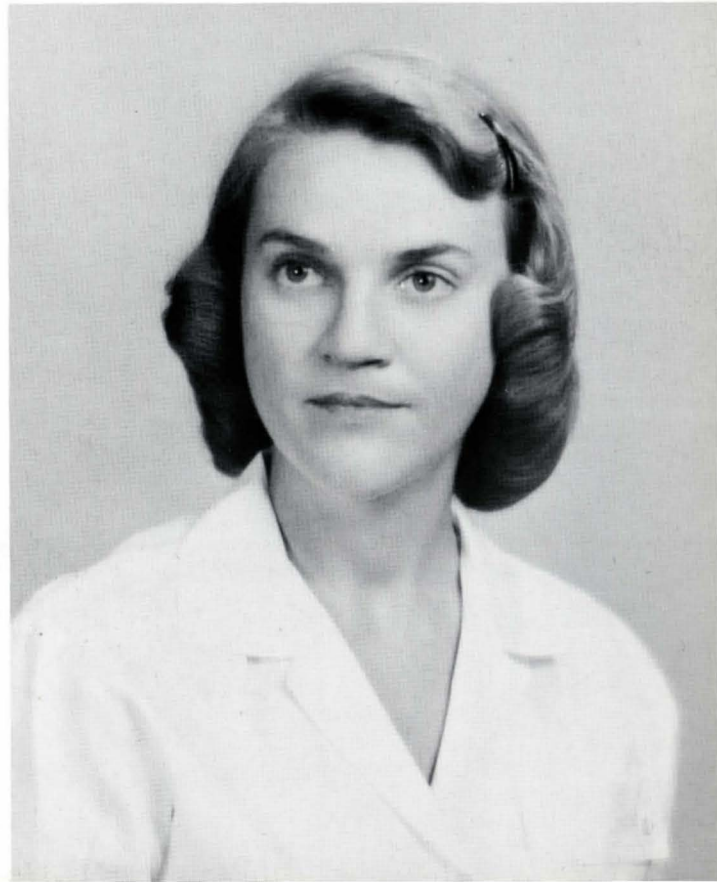

Sue is a confection of pastels and petticoats. Mature graciousness, sincere understanding, and intuitive warmth are hers in abundance; but they cannot quite conceal a youthful impulsiveness or a simplicity that have made her rich in friendships.

CLARA F. HALLORAN

Yonkers, New York

Psychology

Never too busy to drive us into the "ville," never too rushed to be a patient listener, Clara has distinguished herself in her generosity. Fortright and lighthearted, loyal and understanding, she has given with the joy of true friendship.

PATRICIA ANNE HANRAHAN

Syracuse, New York

English

Pat is a picture of the diligent and the serious framed by a refined delicacy, accented by a flash of color. A profound sensitivity harmonized with willing responsibility and unwavering sympathy are her attributes; a capricious remark and pert laughter, her charm.

ALMA FRANCES HARPER

Madison, New Jersey

English

A warm sensitivity tempered with a touch of crisp humor characterizes Alma. By sharing her mature convictions on faith and life, and by combining an appreciation of the artistic with the unexpectedly practical, Alma surprises and delights.

MARY ANGELA HARRAS

Hempstead, New York

English

Quick silver, Mary Angela is famous for deliberate humor and unruffled composure. Her ready generosity and artistic sense indicate her concern for the good and the beautiful; a genuine interest in matters intellectual helps her find the true wherever she looks.

MARY MARGARET HARVEY

Waterbury, Connecticut

English

Mary is honest, sincere, and gentle. She is spiritual, industrious, and generous. She has a sparkling sense of humor, a genuine interest in literature, and a real love of song. The Irish have a word for her personality—they call it—Irish.

SUE ANN CECILIA HINTZ

Pelham, New York

Psychology

Sue Ann's willingness to assume any responsibility, coupled with competence and spontaneity, have made her equal to any task — vice-president, A.B., or director of a dry swimphony. Her open sincerity and abiding good wit combine to form a most congenial disposition.

JOAN CATHERINE HOLLAND

New Rochelle, New York

Psychology

Joan's poised and dignified manner also claims its fresh, carefree side. In her work she manifests a calmness and capability that is unfailing, but never far removed from a subtle wit that marks her talent for fun.

MARGARET VERONICA HOULIHAN

Woodlawn, New York

French

Where joy courts an energetic spirit, where eager responsibility vitalizes an alert mind, we find Maggie. Gifted with an easy competence for organizing, a steadfast loyalty in friendship, and an avid enthusiasm for "le français," Maggie truly loves life.

RITA KATHERINE HOWARD

Devon, Connecticut

History

Femininity becomes Rita as well as her favorite blue, for she wears both little-girl simplicity and womanly depth. She conscientiously applies herself to everything she does, with a sensitivity for life's values that is refreshed by joy.

MATILDE HUERTAS

Caguas, Puerto Rico

Biology

Busy with Missions or meringue beats, Maty has been our study in miniature. Strong in vivid faith and love, she is woman in thoughtfulness, child in wonder—bright-toned warmth with a mischievous tang, humble wisdom searching deep for the ways of God.

MARY DENISE HYNES

Hartsdale, New York

Art

Where there's Dennie there's laughter, but nonchalance and the aptness of the humorist mask deep feeling and a grave sense of responsibility. Sincerely unselfish, Dennie can be counted upon for understanding; humbly assured, she is looked to for guidance.

JOANNE MARIE INCERTO

Norwalk, Connecticut

History

Catching the 4:45 train to Norwalk and stirring frequent discussions in the "caf" on the philosophy of history, introduce Joanne. Ways that are quiet and unassuming, a staunch determination pervading all her activities, and an unpredictable sense of humor complete the picture.

ANNE VERONICA JAROSZ

New York, New York

Speech-English

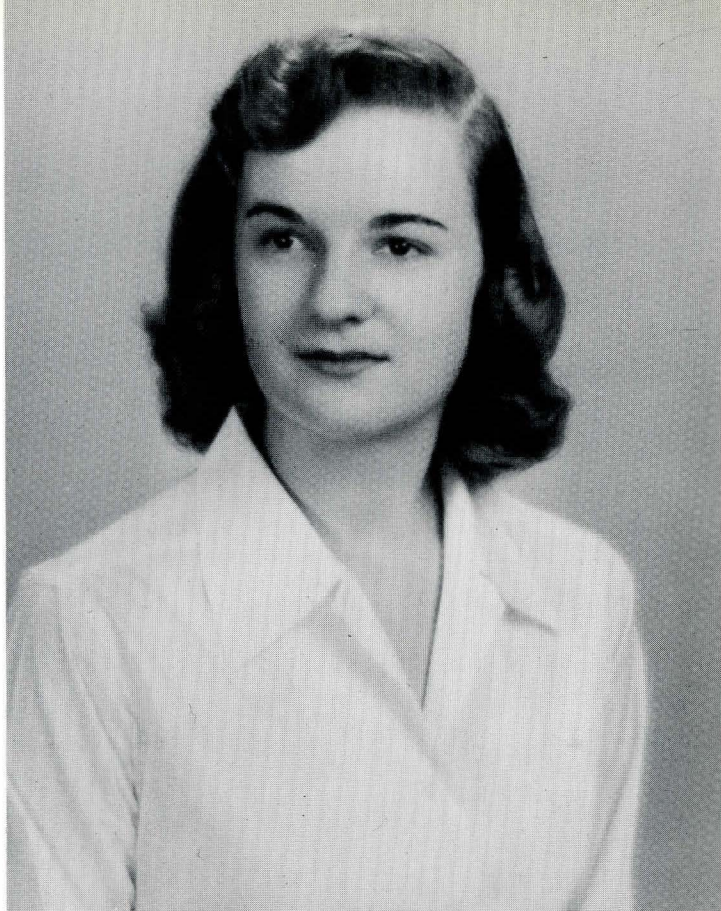

Our early-to-bed and early-to-rise commuter, Ann is motivated by a desire for speed in order to relax. Wielding a Midas touch for success, she accomplishes all with the same enthusiastic thoroughness evident in her appreciation of Chesterton or Debussy.

BARBARA ANN KEARNS

North Haledon, New Jersey

Spanish

Barbara mingles a keen interest in people and life with a special delight in listening to Spanish music and in keeping abreast of our own national politics. Christian charity and simplicity equip her to accomplish each new task with competence and enthusiasm.

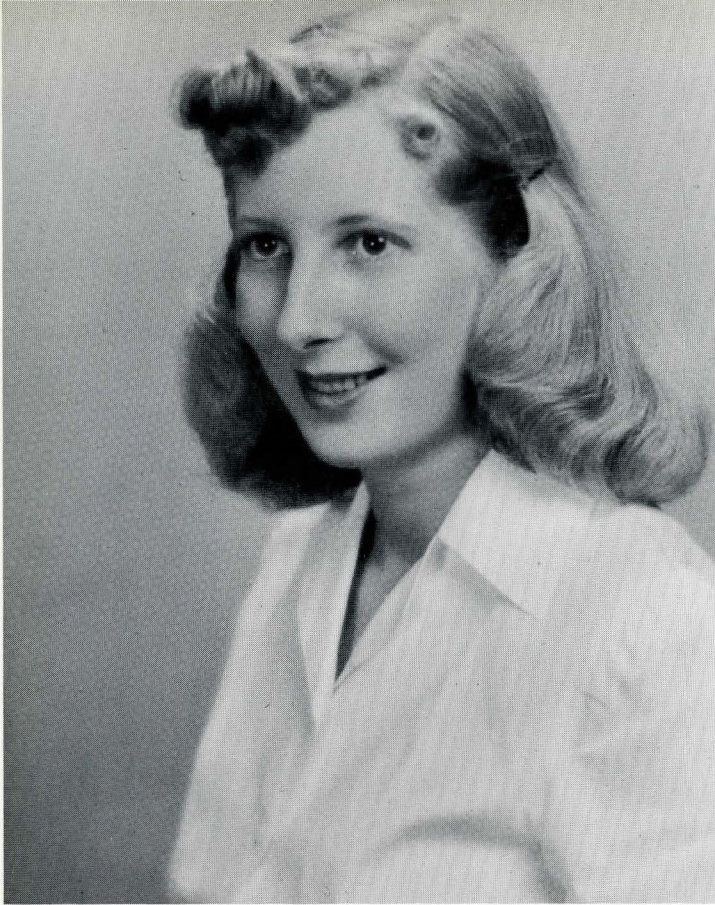

GERTRUDE ROSE KELLY

New York, New York

English

When scholarly wit spices poetic insight, when a brilliant mind eagerly courts the truth of English literature, when responsibility adorns a selfless will—the result is a person enriched and enriching. To Gert's generosity and strength we owe Annales '57.

PATRICIA WINIFRED KERPEN

Yonkers, New York

English

Pat is a person with boundless energy, a generous volunteer of time and effort. Her happy-go-lucky disposition explains an easy friendliness and slowness to anger, while her serious side exhibits a sincere interest in people, unselfishness, and prayerful simplicity.

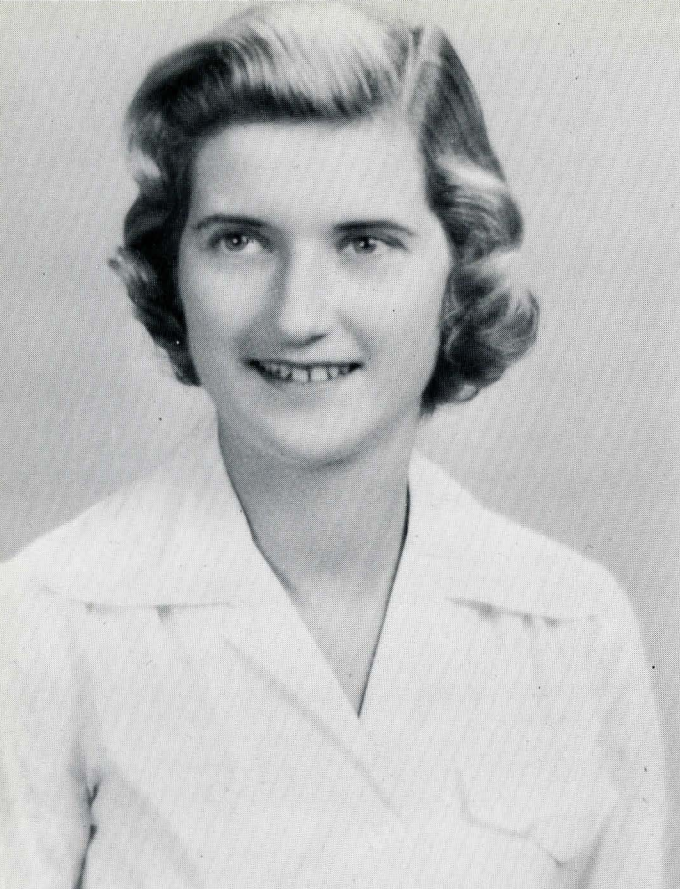

VIRGINIA GAIL KETTERSON

Newburgh, New York

Speech-English

With a distinctive dash of vivaciousness, she multiplies activities, exhausting neither her energy nor her generosity. With a ready eagerness, Ginny sparks studies and sports, love and laughter. Impulsively outgoing to all, she possesses keen empathy, ready resilience, and simple goodness.

PHYLLIS NINA KIELY

Port Chester, New York

English

Phyllis employs her verve and eagerness to accomplish anything before her, academic or social. Blithely unperturbed, she adds a carefree spirit of fun and adventure to any occasion. Her capacity for warm friendships reveals itself readily to all.

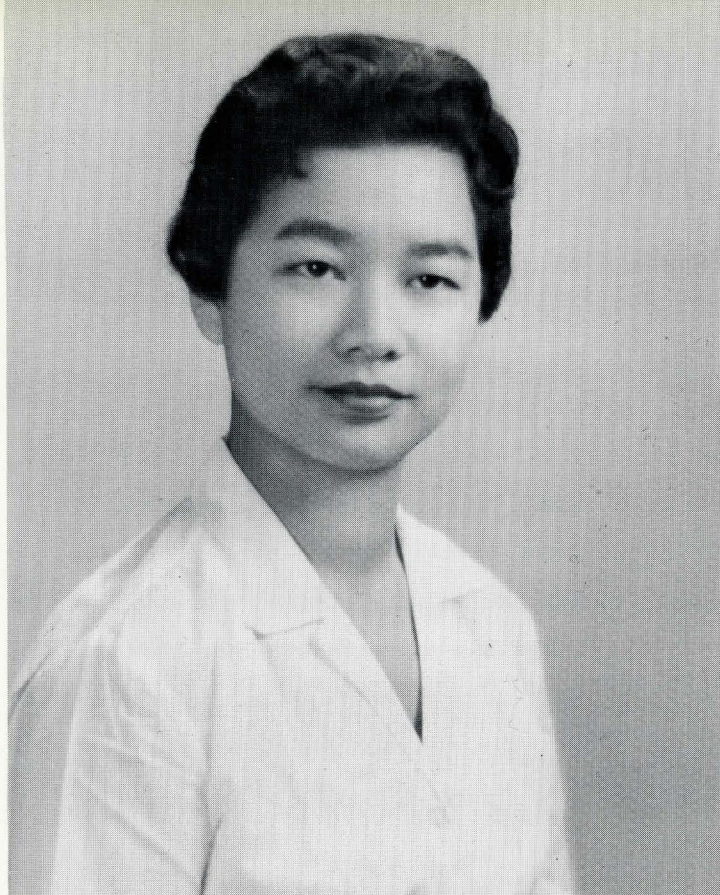

BARBARA ANN KLEIN

New York, New York

Mathematics

A fancy for the unusual and a talent for the scientific, plus a knack for embracing challenge, arise from her well-ordered mind. Barbara's genuine friendliness is rivalled only by her delightful spontaneity of action and zest for life in all its aspects.

BARBARA IRENE KONG

St. Andrew, Jamaica

Economics

Where composure is complemented by quick sympathy, and sprightly wit animates industry and efficiency, we find Barbara. Her eagerness to serve and her appreciation of bright melodies escape her natural reserve, disclosing an alert mind and a happy heart.

ALBERTA CONSTANCE LANDRIGAN

Edgewood, Rhode Island

Speech-English

Expressive eyes and infectious laughter, coupled with the qualities of a generous counsellor and genuine friend, typify Connie. Whether giving a formal speech or conversing in a small group, she possesses an irresistible charm. Joie de vivre, sincerity, thoughtfulness—this is Connie.

MARY JANE LANE

Binghamton, New York

Mathematics

Mathematically precise and stable, Mary Jane also possesses the generosity and patience of the honestly interested friend. She is serious, yet has a dramatic flair for the comic; she creates an atmosphere of calm vitality wherever she goes.

FLORENCE URSULA LANG

New Rochelle, New York

History

Maintaining an unhurried charm, Beau all the while dispenses a dry humor, generosity, and easy-going versatility. An unwavering knowledge of her goals and conscientious striving to achieve them give birth to her self-confidence. She is at once Southern hospitality and Yankee perspicacity.

BETTY JUNE LARI

Yonkers, New York

Sociology

Although her ways are quiet, Betty possesses a harmonious blend of gaiety and serenity, of depth and self-control—with a dash of casualness. She presents the typical collegian from without, while she projects a warm congeniality from within.

MARGARET ANN LAWLER

Riverdale, New York

English

A disarming laugh and eagerness to please, coupled with unfailing competence and high intelligence, make Peggy distinctive. Naturally poised, she can play well a trio of roles: efficient leader, determined athlete, and warm-hearted friend.

ANDREE LEJEUNE

Woonsocket, Rhode Island

Speech-English

Opera, poetry, life—artistic feeling makes Andy's interests her loves. Her penetrating mind, discerning tastes, and independent spirit challenge society, but her sincere generosity and humble sensitivity win the individual. In art she prefers expression to precision—love to esteem in friendship.

MARY ANN LYNCH

Syracuse, New York

A colleen's coloring, a magnetic smile, and a love of fun: these are Mary Ann's. That touch of sophistication is teased by ingénue-like naturalness, so that her manner delightfully combines both—and, too, shows an inner consideration and deep feeling for others.

FLORENCE J. McCAFFERY

Larchmont, New York

Sociology

With undercurrents of serious purpose and a deep social sense, Florence blends a mind that is keen, peaceful, and well-ordered with a manner that is considerate. However, all is not seriousness, for she is ever amiable and quick to respond to joy.

MARILYN FRANCES McCORMACK

West Hempstead, New York

English

Honest in her opinions and frank in her beliefs, Marilyn shuns all artificiality. She combines intensity with a trace of lightheartedness, resulting in effortless efficiency. Possessor of an alert appreciation of the truly valuable, she radiates mature womanliness.

ELIZABETH ANN MCGOWAN

New Rochelle, New York

English

Liz abounds in energy for anything new, whether a project for NFCCS or for the Class of '57. Pre-eminently practical, deeply sincere in voicing her opinion, steadfast in purpose, Liz is endowed with a capacity for enduring friendships and devoted service.

CLAIRE MCGUIGAN

Stewart Manor, Long Island, N. Y.

French

Claire is a tinderbox of diligence and fervor sparked by an unquenchable supply of energy. Competent, earnest, gentle in disposition, she selects her standards and pursues them with a dauntless resolution that constantly amazes and inspires those around her.

FRANCES ANNE McLAUGHLIN

Hanson, Massachusetts

English

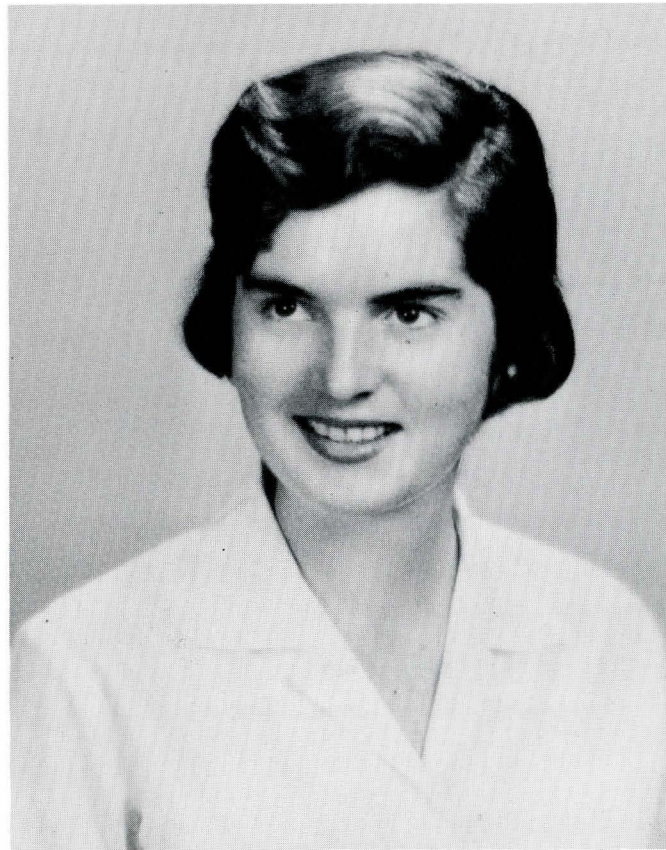

Take the indescribable charm of a Boston accent and an Irish brogue; mischievous, laughing eyes and strawberry-blond hair; a vivid art talent and a flair for writing; blend with thoughtfulness and sincerity, and this is Franne . . . this and so much more.

MARY ELIZABETH McNAMARA

Woonsocket, Rhode Island

Psychology

With a studied nonchalance, Mac is oblivious to the word "worry." She is the silent observer, whose sudden, care-free remarks are the source of spontaneous laughter. Yet above all, Mac is a gentle woman who delights in simple pleasures and warmth of affection.

ANNE MCSHANE

East Grand Rapids, Michigan

English

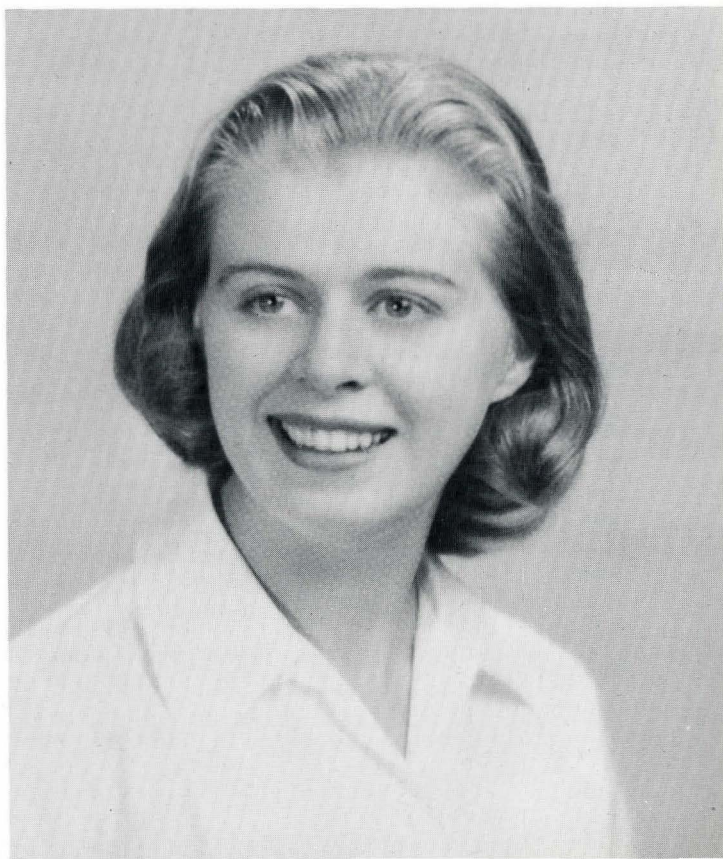

Blessed with a magnetic genuineness, an Irish wit, and an air of Mid-Western breeziness, Anne looks wisely and serenely at life through intense blue eyes. Her values are wrought of realism; her perception is steadied by maturity.

KATHLEEN F. MALONE

New York, New York

English

Kay, with a flair for sophistication, combines strength of spirit, joie de vivre, spiritual sensitivity and delicacy. A woman of uncompromising ideals, she is at once vivacious and serene, dynamic and steadfast—yet always and consistently herself.

JOAN CLAIRE MANUSZAK

Washington, D .C.

English

Sensitive to any situation, Joan's particular charm is the product of instinct as well as of cultivated good-heartedness. Her talent for vivid expression and her spontaneous yet ever appropriate wit, find outlet in the written and the spoken word.

DIANE L. MARTEL
Gardner, Massachusetts
Art

New England practicality welcomes a dash of Bohemian fun in Diane. Warm authenticity completes the picture. Good-heartedly available for any activity, she capably utilizes her artistic sense, her common sense and her loving sense in all her endeavors.

NATALIE R. MARTO

Little Neck, New York

Psychology

Lee's vivacious variety of creative humor has enlivened countless gatherings, but the brilliance of her outgoing personality has not concealed her interior warmth. Independent in thought and candid in expression, she retains as well as communicates her love of life.

MARIE VICTORIA MASI

Purchase, New York

English

Marie's true and unfaltering perspective of life results from a blithe spirit, a generous heart, and the ability to get along with people. She effectively displays an air of innocence and endearing simplicity, while her mature outlook bespeaks seriousness of purpose.

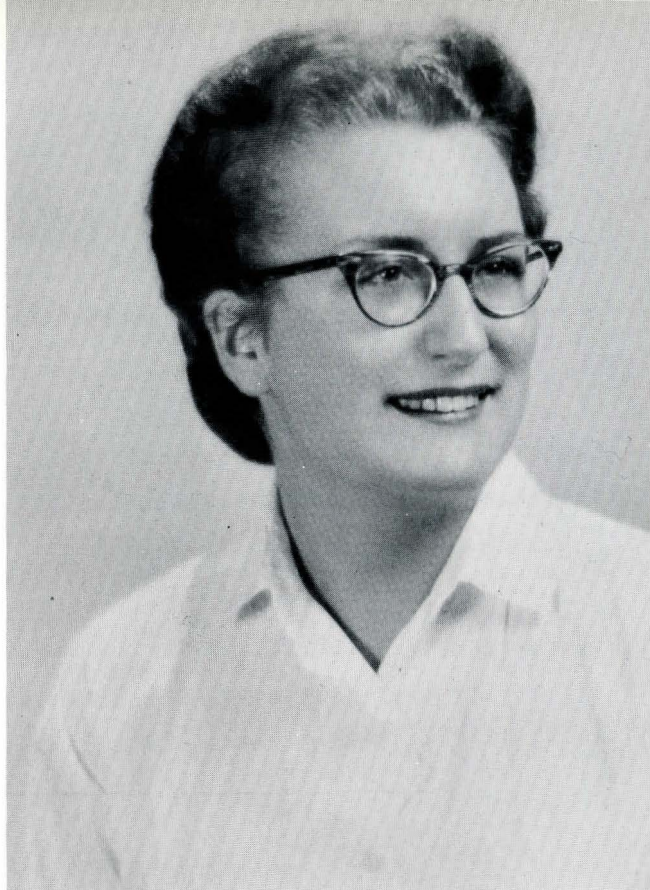

GRACE S. MATTESON

Great Barrington, Massachusetts

English

With dedication, purpose, and a love of truth, Gretchen has exemplified the ideals of the scholar. Yet hers is a profundity strikingly tempered by sharp wit, a contagious chuckle, and the delightfully unconventional expression of myriad thoughts.

MARIE LOUISE MAUCH

New York, New York

Art

Numerous visits to art museums and galleries reveal Marie's genuine appreciation for all things beautiful. A subtle humor penetrates her conversations and challenging political discussions. Yet she manifests a purposefulness and unfailing calm in all her activities.

ROBERTA HARVEY MILLER

Pelham, New York

History

Handling basketballs, business details, and books with equal verve, Bobbie channels tremendous energy into tremendous endeavors. Intensity flares in the searching mind of a serious student, in deep loyalties, in lived-out liturgy, in spontaneous generosity—with peppering of adventure “just for fun.”

ROSEMARY J. MOORE

Waterbury, Connecticut

Psychology

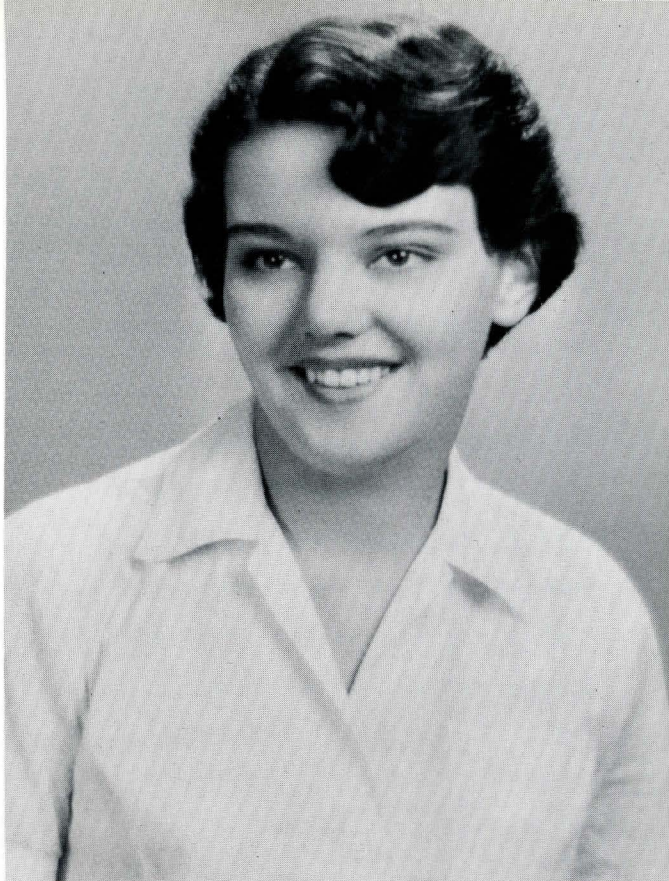

With a charming candor, Rosemary is quick to analyze, to capture the significant in a fanciful phrase. Her unfeigned sincerity is present in all she does: in her appreciation for the delicate detail, her ardor for lilting music, her selfless service.

CAROL A. MURPHY

West Roxbury, Massachusetts

Sociology

Carol's winsome candor and generous understanding yield the key to her attractive and unassuming manner. With carefree demeanor she bears witness that both the smiles and frowns of life find their resolution in her deep-rooted sense of values.

CATHERINE A. MURRAY

Mamaroneck, New York

English

Charming naïvete and a sympathetic nature make Cac's personality doubly pleasing. A deep sense of the practical, a penetrating mind, and devotion to studies make her a good student; her ability to listen thoughtfully and her eagerness to help, a good friend.

MARY MARGARET MYLOD

Poughkeepsie, New York

Art

Ballet and oils, long walks and sunsets, a pink rose on a crimson sash display Mary's penchant for the beautiful and unusual. Individual extraordinaire with an unpredictable wit, she is ever the perfectionist. A delicate womanliness manifests strength and flexibility.

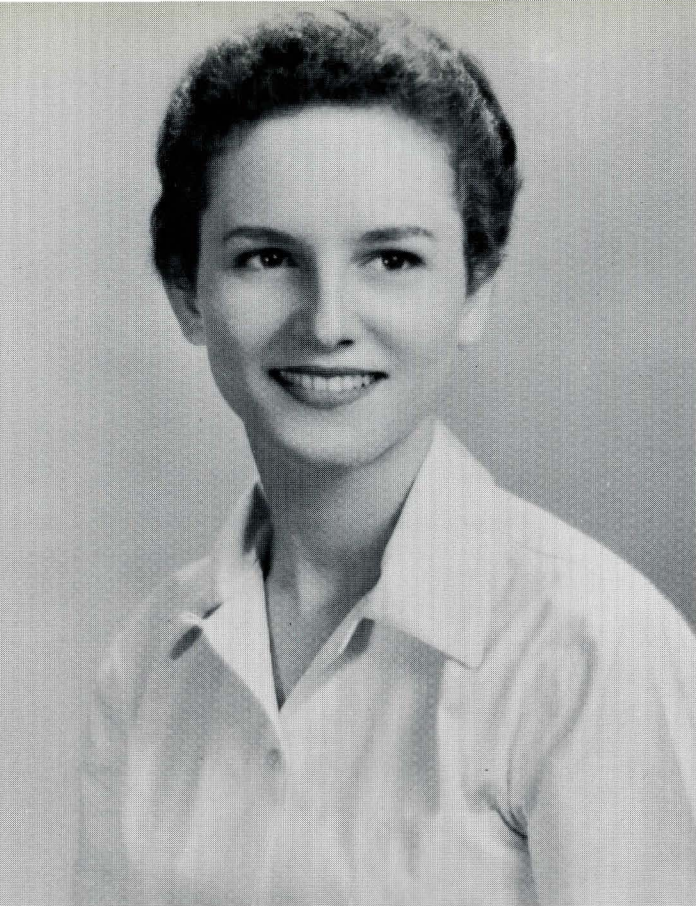

MARY LOU NORTON

Worcester, Massachusetts

English

Nothing is ever superimposed on Lou, for she correlates and assimilates all things with decision. Modest about her accomplishments, she has distinguished herself for her journalistic talent, for her inventiveness in escapades, for acumen in the search for knowledge.

THERESE MARIE NOUSTAS

Port-au-Prince, Haiti

French

Terry has brought us the rhythm and charm of a Haitian childhood; the unaffected savoir-faire of New York and the continent. Her thoughts express an enigmatic depth of spirit, and the warm affection of an outgoing comrade.

JOAN MARGARET NUGENT

New York, New York

Mathematics

Joan's flair for solving mathematical problems reveals a vigorous and active mind, while her capacity for making firm friendships manifests a perennially warm disposition. Good-hearted, full of laughter, moulded of delicacy, Joan is first of all a lady.

ADRIENNE MARIE O'BRIEN

Teaneck, New Jersey

Psychology

Quietly zestful, whether savouring a joke or plunging into discussion, "A" compounds high seriousness and hearty laughter. With the practical planner goes a touch of hidden artist; with shy friendliness, enthusiasm for new people and new interests; with grave thoughts, great love.

AUDREY ANNE O'BRIEN

Yonkers, New York

History

Audrey has a steadiness and a spirit that is equaled only by her jovial nature and her undisguised friendliness. An ever-inquiring mind, energy effortlessly expended for '57, and a happiness that seems made to be shared are particularly hers.

BEATRICE ANNE O'CONNELL

Yonkers, New York

Art

Betty's artistic nature permits her to capture the beauties of a landscape with a few deft lines. A quiet exterior conceals an inner vitality complemented by an optimistic outlook, an even temper, and a keen sense of humor.

JANE FOY O'GRADY

New York, New York

Sociology

Jane's is a truly gracious and delightful manner that bespeaks a sympathetic understanding of others and an intrepid sincerity. Her unfailing competence and dependability parallel a disarming humor and charm, in forming her amiable and sparkling personality.

ANN GRACE O'SHAUGHNESSY

New York, New York

History

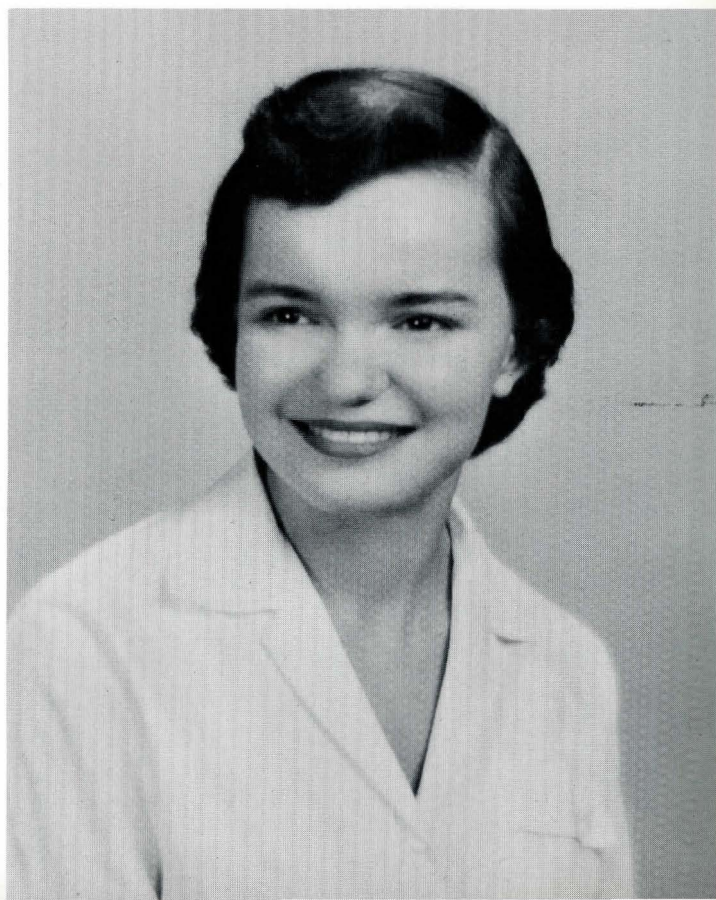

Ann's enthusiasm and ingenuity color every day with vibrance and variety. Instinctively sensitive to others' needs, she is prudently practical in her aid. Vital understanding of history and interest in modern affairs spur her commitment to help restore all things in Christ.

JOAN ADRIENNE PALMERA

Jersey City, New Jersey

Psychology

Gay dignity stamps Joan's own special appeal. Open-minded in inquiry, she expresses firm judgment in decision, conviction in action. To sound values, Joan adds interests spanning fashions and opera, whimsical relish for fun, and a delightful hobby of thoroughly enjoying people.

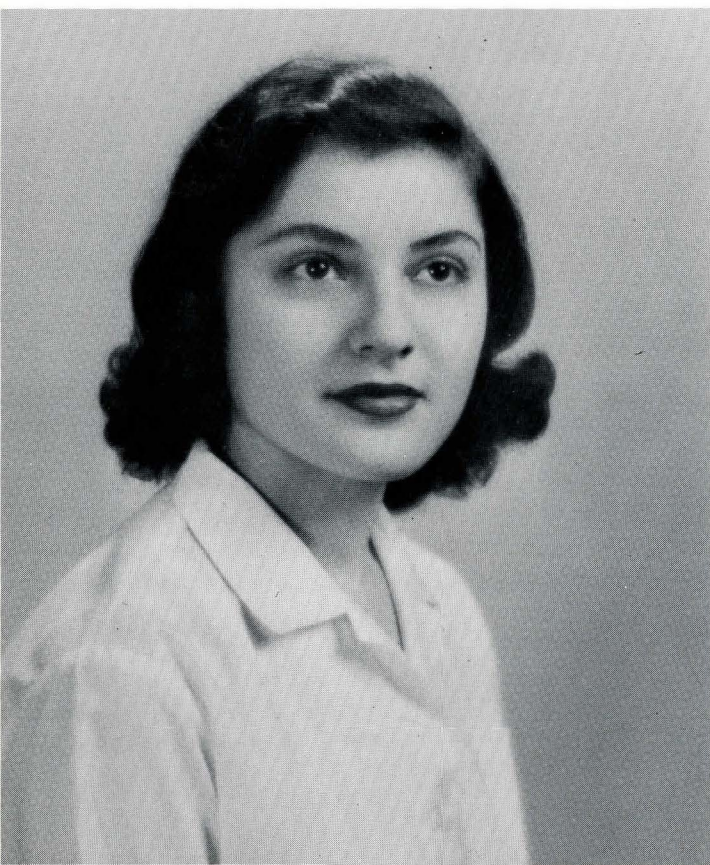

BARBARA JANE PARKER

Waterbury, Connecticut

English

Her quiet self-assurance, which is seldom seriously ruffled, makes Barbara a warm and dependable friend. Being too generous is her most outstanding fault, but even in this she can be trusted to remain unassuming and calm. A gentle steadfastness is her strength.

GLORIA V. PEDALINO

West Orange, New Jersey

English

Vibrantly responsive, Glo adds a tang of the unusual to daily routine. An exquisite refinement marks her ease of gracious ways and her relish for music and poetry. In depth of thought, in dramatic nuance, she shows intensity. In warmth of spirit, she shows love.

CONSTANCE ANN PERRI

New York, New York

French

With a generous amount of love and laughter, Connie efficiently completes her tasks, fearlessly defends her intellectual views, and earnestly expresses her spiritual convictions. A warm and sympathetic friend, she is famous for wit and warmth energetically blended.

CLAIRE MARIE PORCELL

Bronxville, New York

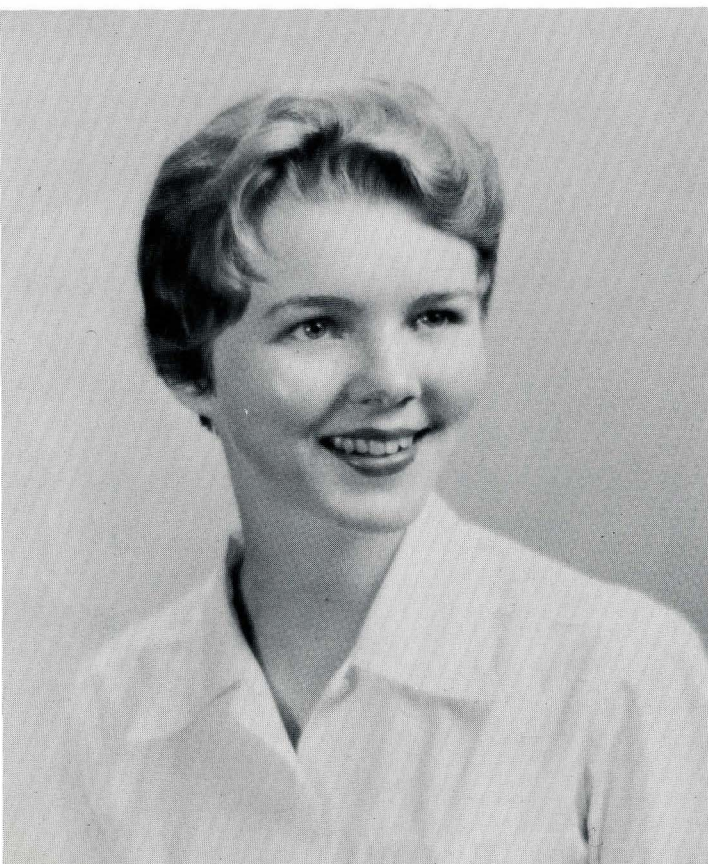

Psychology

Claire's collegiate flair personalizes her basic frankness, cosmopolitan taste, and sense of fun. Her interest in people, dry wit, and strong ideals all find expression in her distinctive enthusiasms for literature, man-tailored shirts and psychology.

JANE PRECHTL
Elmira, New York

Mathematics

Penetrate the carefree shrug and the gaily outflung hands to the acuteness of a mathematician and the utter honesty of a child. Although equipped with the unflinching realism that accepts the inevitable, Jane constantly renews her search for perfection.

MARGARET THERESA PRUNER
Johnstown, Pennsylvania

Psychology

Our "Fourth of July," Peggy has sparked many of our school activities with her optimism and exuberant enthusiasm. Hidden beneath that elusive elfishness is a kind heart, an independent spirit, a perennially fresh view of all things.

MARY ANNE QUAREMBA

Ridgewood, New Jersey

English

Meticulous in her tasks, open in her affections and solicitude, Maq radiates a steady warmth. Classic tastes tone her life with fine music; the excitement of enthusiasm streaks it with vividness; felt perception and strength of principle give it womanly stature.

ANN MARIE QUILL

Bronx, New York

English

With a touch of melodic brightness, Ann brings us the serenity of her joy and the delight of her songs. Sharing intensively in our experiences, giving liberally of herself, she shows maturity in judgment, foresight in her optimism, the awareness of lived convictions.

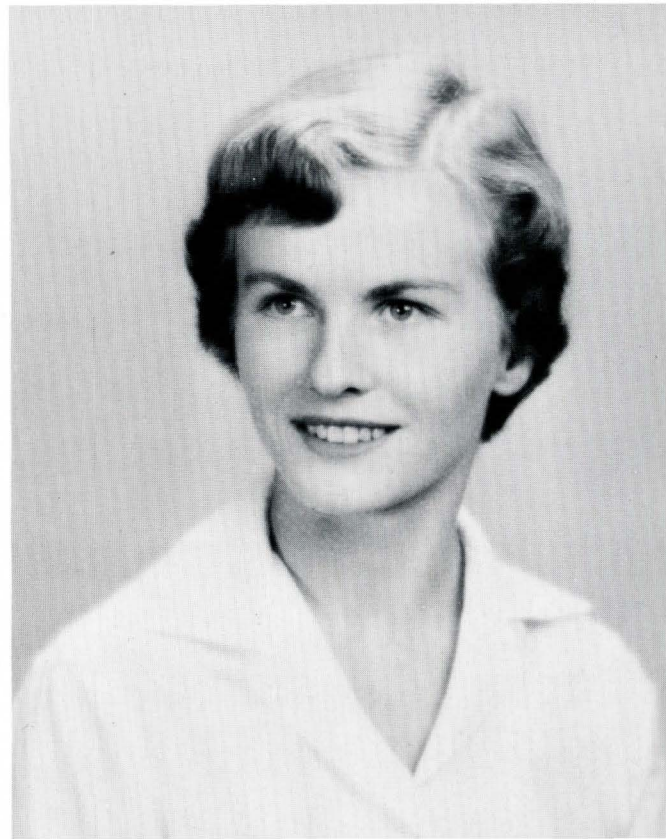

ROSE RAZIANO
Brooklyn, New York
English

When you want to relax in carefree hilarity, find leadership, or unburden yourself of a problem, you're looking for Rose. Witty, efficient, and sincere, Rose gives generously to campus fun, friendships, and organized activity. Serenity blends a well-rounded personality with keen intelligence.

CAROL MARION RENCSCO
Ansonia, Connecticut
History

Petite Carol ever surprises us with her fund of determination and energy. Serene and independent, she rules her life graciously, with regal poise and confidence made richer and truer by spiritual depth, womanliness, and Carol-like cheer.

MARY ELIZABETH RICE

Madawaska, Maine

Speech-English

With the refreshing, clean-cut qualities natural to one from the Maine tradition, Mimi has lively independence, adept understanding, and keen insights. Unflagging in energy, she excels in competent sportsmanship. Constant in her friendships and commitments, she abounds in spontaneous service.

ANNE HALPIN RIEG

Schenectady, New York

Economics

Lighthearted efficiency and discreet concern make of Anne a valued co-worker and a jovial-spirited companion. Her éclat as a prom chairman or her comprehensive interests as an assembly board member show the enthusiasm and intensity of Anne.

ROSANNE A. RIORDAN

Bronx, New York

History

Hers is a noble grace. A calm reserve and a prudent wisdom indicate her quiet maturity, while her wealth of kindness and wit is betrayed by a quick smile. The ability to be carefree or pensive within a moment's time is Rosanne's.

DOLORES V. RIZZO

Totowa, New Jersey

Art

Artistic originality and the art of always being herself have made Dee distinctive. Imaginatively handling a decorating job, superbly acting a dramatic role, or diplomatically managing Annales photography, she has impressed us with her vital intensity and ever-gracious thoughtfulness.

ELIZABETH ANN ROBBINS

Bronx, New York

English

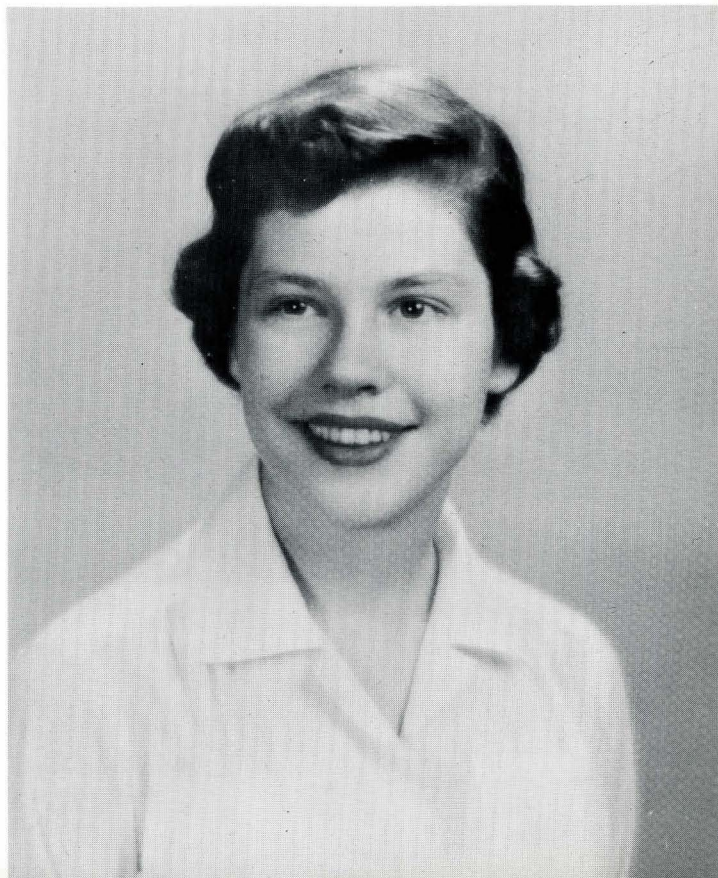

Marked by a natural grace and poise that is born of an inner serenity, Bette-ann glows with a charming sophistication. Her unconscious sincerity, artless confidence, and swift friendliness, all combine to give her a unique kind of distinction.

VALERIE ANN ROBERTS

Brookline, Massachusetts

Mathematics

First thoughts of Val evoke her constant sympathy and gentleness. She has a feeling for the unusual. Her interests range from atoms to poesy, dramatics to study of the stars; and all find way into inimitable short stories.

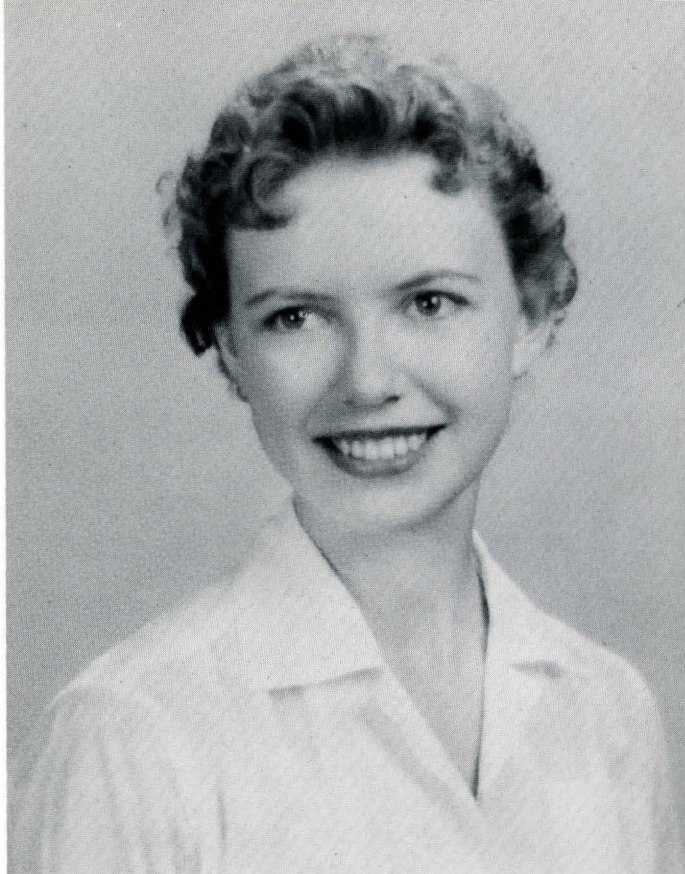

BETSY ROESGEN

Williamsport, Pennsylvania

Speech-English

Sometimes pleasantly shocking, always pleasingly stimulating, Betsy has left us the inimitable Roesgen trademark—from Junior Show to Annales. Possessing the refined insight of the vibrantly creative, she manifests warm concern for others, with determination and ability to think for herself.

GRETCHEN A. RUSSELL

Hingham, Massachusetts

English

Bright affection and a glint of roguishness animates a gentle charm in Gretchen; instinctive joy in life adds flavor to her activities. Intuitively, she brings warmth of understanding, tone of principle, and strength of simplicity to all that she does.

MARGUERITE RUCQUI

New York, New York

French

Black hair, vivacious French personality, "old-world" poise, open manner—no one else but Peg. A well-seasoned traveller, her numerous sojourns throughout Europe are reflected in a well-balanced philosophy of life and a boundless desire for knowledge.

PHYLLIS ANNE SAFARIK

Massapequa, Long Island, New York

English

Beneath our capable journalist and junior ring chairman lies a humor ready to sparkle at the slightest suggestion, a heart ready to share in the smallest concern. Skilled debator and impartial analyst, Phyl is a valued critic as well as a trusted confidante.

MARY FRANCES SAUNDERS

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Psychology

Mary Fran's imaginative escapades are viewed with affectionate amazement. The spirit, vitality, and originality of her personality are remembered with unconcealed admiration. Her innate generosity, frankness, and good humor have made her warmly loved.

MARY BRENDAN SAYERS

New Rochelle, New York

History

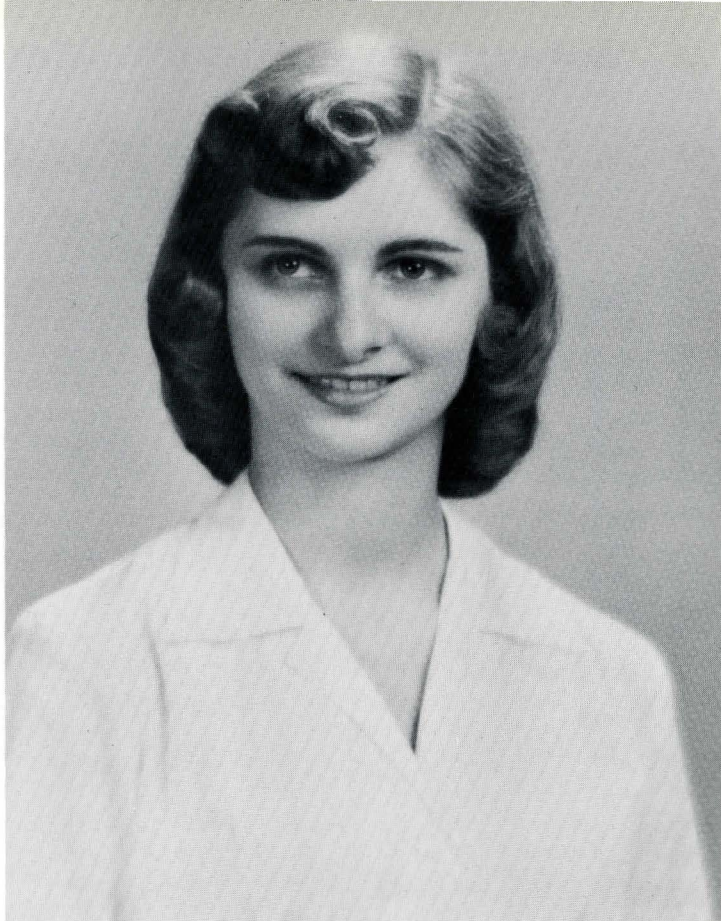

Aglow with life and sparkling with laughter, Mary has a marked facility for expounding on varied subjects. Her quiet self-possession reflects a sureness of mind and a determined will for action, while her patience with children is evidence of a cheerful temperament.

CYNTHIA ANN SCIANO

Staten Island, New York

English

Sprinkles of little-girl charm have endeared Cynthia to us. Her strong concern for the essentials of life is enhanced by spontaneous glints of merriment. She possesses the gift of mature understanding, complemented by a fervent willingness to serve.

TERESA E. SCANLON

Bronx, New York

Psychology

From an outlook that is mature and actions that are thoughtful and conscientious, emerges an unruffled disposition with all the charm of the social graces. Terry possesses an enormous capacity for joy and an incomparable ability to diffuse it to others.

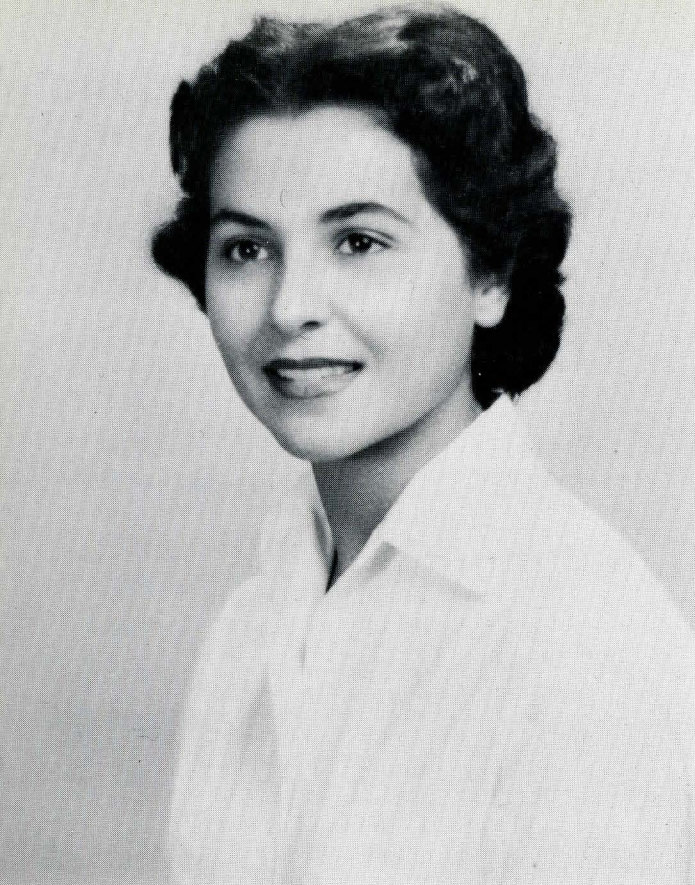

LOIS ANN SCARPINO
Mount Vernon, New York
Speech-English

Lois has the ability to meet all situations with just the right amount of seriousness, intense vitality and wit. An unaffected manner, a touch of casualness, a completely feminine demeanor find expression in her.

KAY FRANCES SCHEPP
Canastota, New York
English

Efficient and feminine, K.F. manages to invest intellectual curiosity and Family Life chairmanship with the dainty charm of a Mademoiselle cover. A lively mime, she illustrates an original humor with histrionic talents. Intuitively empathetic, she is quick with understanding and practical advice.

JOAN CAROLYN SCLAFANI

New York, New York

English

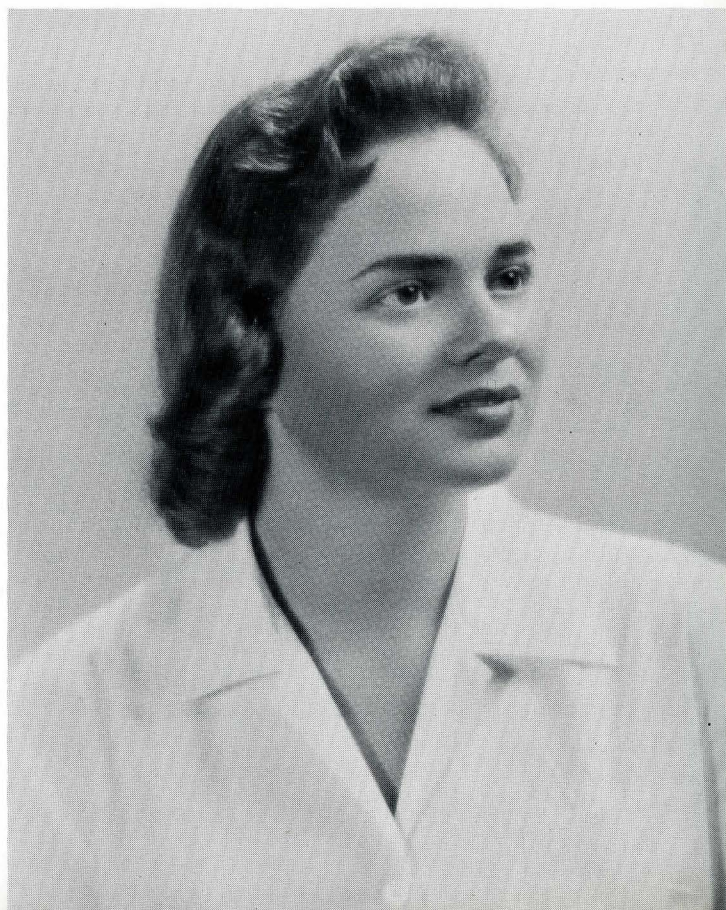

Joan's graciousness of manner, gentleness of speech, and pensive serenity are a manifestation of her womanly dignity. Diffusing warm friendliness, she captivates those who know her, while her sympathetic nature, ever ready to aid others, welcomes new friendships.

ELIZABETH ALICE SEIDEL

Scarsdale, New York

Art

Liz wears well the blue tassel. In companionship she radiates contagious gaiety and love of song. In friendship she shares her hearty enthusiasm and sincere helpfulness. In leadership she manifests mature generosity and integrity that is genuinely Christian.

CONSTANCE M. SETTEMBRINI

New Rochelle, New York

Psychology

Vigorous spirit sparkling in her eyes reveals Connie's ability to laugh at the incongruous in the most dismal of situations. A deep responsibility towards others coupled with an appreciation of well-wrought values results in a strength of devotion.

ANN WESTON SHINE

New Britain, Connecticut

English

Whether defending her latest political views or discussing that last trick in bridge, Ann combines calm independence with congeniality, earnestness with lightness, quick wit with reserved thoughtfulness. A deep sincerity and candor complete her charm.

ROSALIE SANDERSON SIEWERS

Richmond, Virginia

Economics

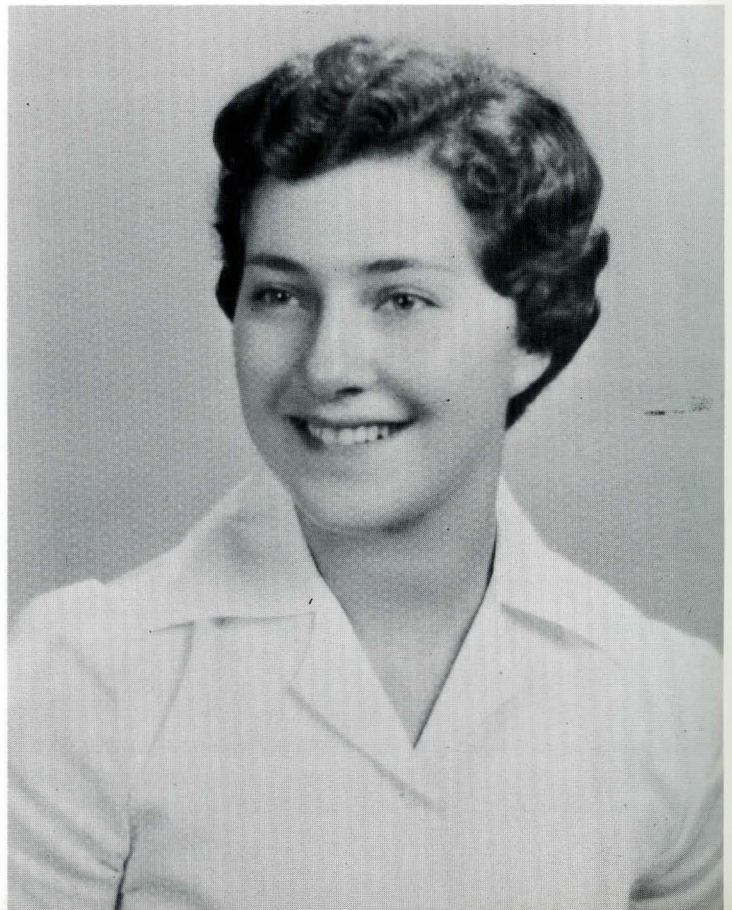

Take a smiling "Hi, y'all," two dancing feet, and a dash of efficiency and neatness. Blend from top to toe with vivacious good will, generous humor, and acute perception—a recipe for a personality well-done in Rosalie.

DONATA MARIE SIMONE

Mahopac, New York

English

Donnie has an inner serenity placed in a setting of unassuming self-possession. Here in the warmth of her personality is a harmony of even-tempered congeniality, innate generosity, and Christian sensitivity making her a perfect lady and a treasured friend.

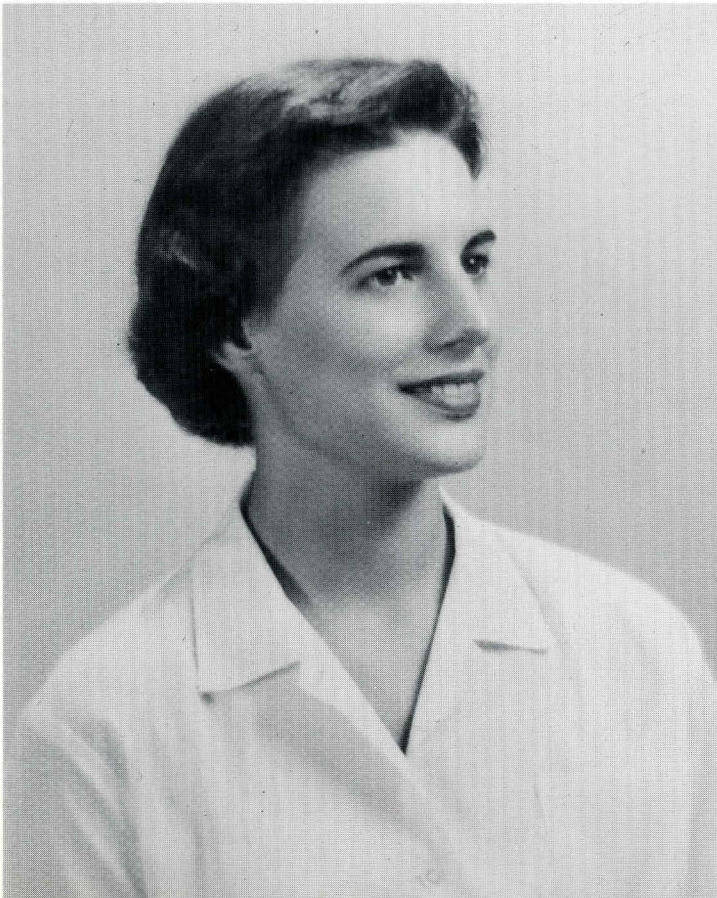

NANCY HILL SINGLETON

Albany, New York

English

Whether reading Victorian literature, analyzing current topics, or checking Albany train schedules, Nancy embodies the positive approach. Her casual nonchalance cannot conceal her instant generosity, nor her spontaneity, her unselfish love.

PATRICIA ANN SMILGIN

New London, Connecticut

Speech-English

Love for the simple and homey, and devotion to an incomparable list of "firsts" fill Pat's thoughts and comments. Her natural effervescence makes her the center of conviviality. With an extra share of strength and tenderness, she is ever a true friend.

PATRICIA FRANCES SMITH

New Rochelle, New York

History

A discriminating yet unpretentious manner, blended with warm congeniality, make Pat at once the conscientious student and the amiable mixer. Her active interests span music, art, or a new project; while her receptiveness to fun reveals a constant good humor.

SHEILA LOUGHLIN SMITH

Mount Vernon, New York

Biology

Petite in stature, grand in interests, Sheila finds science fascinating, debating a challenge, and social life a pleasure. Intriguing laughter and calm poise make her a sought-after companion, while her willingness to serve makes her leadership valuable.

JOAN FLORENCE SPITALERI

Elmhurst, New York

Chemistry

Whether analyzing a chemistry problem or debating the merits of the latest best-seller, Joan reveals her intelligent and precise manner of expression. As editor of Quarterly she competently mingles a carefree independence with a dry yet restrained sense of humor.

MARGARET ROSE STANISLAUS

New York, New York

History

Synonymous with sincerity, Peggy is a composite of humility, refinement and quiet tastes. Amiability and intelligence unite with an intrinsic ability to get things done. These and a gift for narrative humor make Peggy a delightful companion and friend.

JANICE BEVERLY STEWART

Springfield, Massachusetts

History

She wouldn't be Janice if she weren't enthusiastic about almost everything, punctuating earnestness with an engaging giggle. Her work is subject to a perfectionist's eye, and the whole tenor of her life to a heart whose loyalties run true and deep.

MARGARET ANN SULLIVAN

Greenfield, Massachusetts

Speech-English

With an infectious gaiety and a discerning insight into human nature, Sully embodies both jollity and alert judgment. In her sprightly imagination and earnestness, each pleasantly defined by a theatrical sense of plot and balance, we have found real delight.

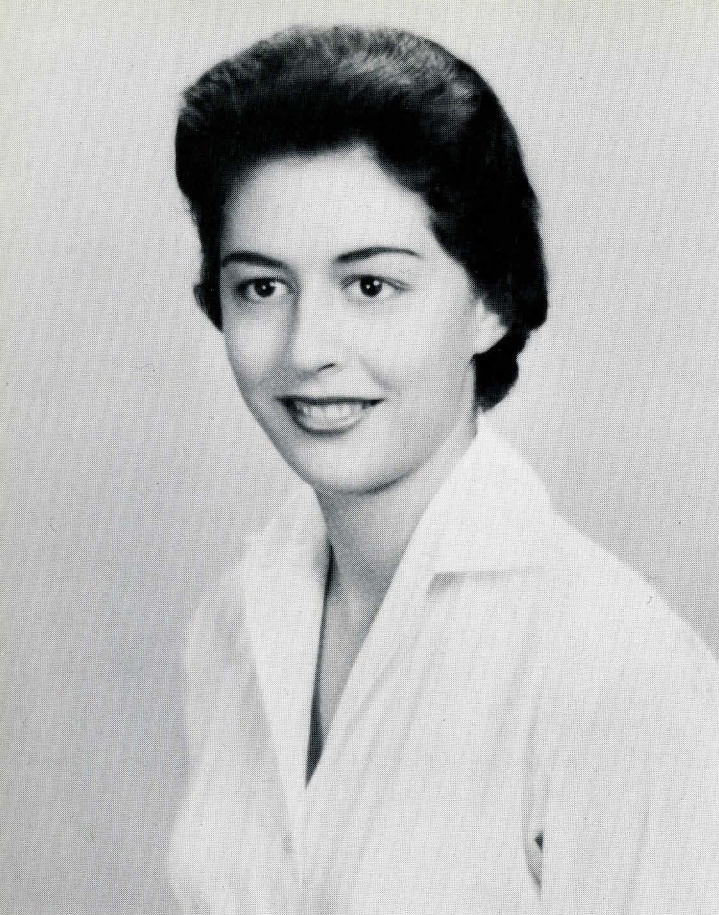

ELINOR JOSEPHINE TANCK
Malverne, Long Island, New York
Chemistry

Elinor is enthusiasm. Honor student, prize athlete, eager supporter of innumerable campus activities, she never declines to work for "just one more" project. Her analytic insight penetrates any problem, be it basketball strategy, chemical formula, or human situation.

ANN MIRICK TEN EYCK
Saranac Lake, New York
French

With serenity and humility, Ann wears the symbolic blue tassel. Ever restless to learn and share, she has stimulated and enriched us through her straightforwardness at AB meetings, enthusiasm during French Club gatherings, and all-around sportsmanship.

CLARY M. TORO

Ponce, Puerto Rico

Psychology

Clary's Latin charm is expressed with a soft accent and youthful grace. Beauty and delicacy enhance a maturity which endows her with a remarkable understanding of people and a wholehearted generosity. Modest and deeply loving, she possesses true dignity.

MARIE LOUISE ULLRICH

New York, New York

Biology

With the vivacious dignity and grace born of a perceptive and sensitive spirit, Marie eagerly welcomes each challenging situation and makes her achievements with a light but sure touch. Hers are the gifts of earnest objectivity and of womanly service.

MARIE ELIZABETH VALLUZZO

Trumbull, Connecticut

Speech-English

The joy in Marie's heart spills into the lilting vibrance of her voice and the loving service of her hands. From deep comprehension of the essence of womanhood flow the unassuming maturity, charming efficiency, and apostolic zeal which vitalize her daily tasks.

PHYLLIS ANN VAN DE CAR

Lake George, New York

English

Abbreviations give us the key to Phyl. As the president of CCD and SAC, she personifies energy and wholeheartedness. Deeply conscientious yet ever alert for fun, our Lake George import lives gaily, works enthusiastically, and loves spiritedly.

JACQUELINE ANN VITUCCI

Mount Vernon, New York

Speech-English

With determined zeal, Jackie strives to conform to her ideal of Christian perfection. Confident savoir-faire, polished dramatic ability, and positively-expressed generosity are as much Jackie as her natural good taste, alert judgment, and down-to-earth cordiality.

MARY ANN WALKER

Rye, New York

English

Mary Ann has the power to see clearly, feel sympathetically, act decisively and give magnanimously. Her competence and efficiency evident in her journalistic accomplishments are blended with her genuine warmth revealed in sincerity, subtle humor and slow smile.

DOROTHY ANN WALLNER

New York, New York

History

Always ready to debate the merits of the Yankees or Republicans, Dot challenges her opponents with poise and logical insight. Her composure and self-control are deepened by a keen understanding of human nature that is enhanced by her real humility.

JANE ANGELA WALSH

Manhasset, New York

Biology.

With electric ardor, Jane directs a current of enthusiasms. Impressed by word-beauty, intrigued by mischief, imbued with wisdom, she has spent imagination in stories and spirited fun. Warm individuality makes Jane delightful to be with, exciting to know.

PATRICIA ANN WALSH

East Hampton, Connecticut

Economics

A harmonious blend of gaiety and serenity, Pat has led, listened, and given without thought of self. Her willingness to coöperate and her zest for all things collegiate combine both to brighten a cheerleading team and give vitality to her convictions.

BARBARA MIRIAM WEIS

Mount Vernon, New York

Biology

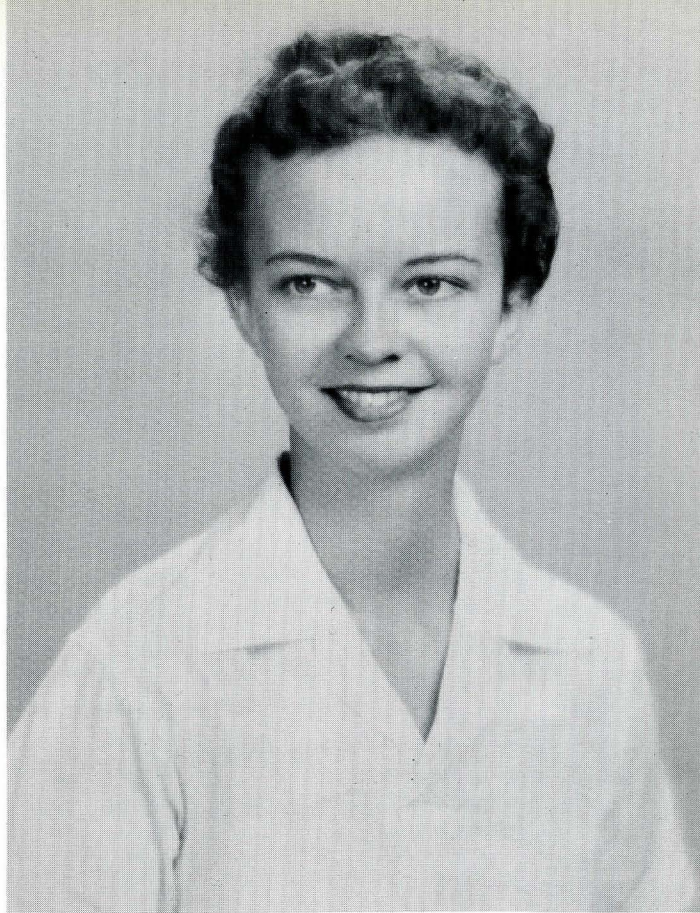

Gracious, friendly and unfailingly cheerful, Barbara is a girl who never heard of the "blues." Uniquely complementing the creativity of the artist is the coolness of the scientist. All these things warmed by an eager cooperation are totaled in Barbara's generosity.

KATHRYN C. XAVIER

Yonkers, New York

Economics

Kathy has a sense of beauty, whether it be in music or in fashion. She looks with equal clarity to the "lighter side" and to the serious. Affectionate and generous, she quietly assumes a special dignity—a portrait of a lady.

ROSE MARIE ZAFFINO

New Rochelle, New York

Biology

A decided leaning towards the whimsical neatly matched by her strong will and sharp mind keep Ro well-balanced. Her huge capacity for both work and play springs from irrepressible enthusiasm. A devoted competence in serving others stamps all her endeavors.

ANNALES

WE HAVE SHARED the special experience of watching our yearbook grow to completion with our college days and finding within it the imprints of our growth as a class. In the CNR tradition, we editors have also shared something else—the secret of Alpha Nu Omicron.

WHO'S WHO

THESE THIRTEEN SENIORS will appear in the 1957 edition of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES. Their spirit, ability, and selflessness have been proven by their successful activities. Chosen by their classmates as worthy representatives of CNR, they are, seated: Joan Bray, Fran Choquette, Dennie Hynes, Sue Ann Hintz, Loretta D'Agostino, Betty Erisman, and Carol Brennan; standing: Mary Lou Norton, Ann Ten Eyck, Phyllis Safarik, Gert Kelly, Liz Seidel, and Liz McGowan.

Mother Augustine Gill

Dining Hall

The indispensable dining hall staff serve us as much by Muriel's, "Go on! Eat it. It's good for you," as they do by their quiet efficiency. Here, they cheerfully mobilize to accommodate the line-up.

A hunger for truth in the classroom quite naturally stirs up our appetite for both food and conversation in the easy informality of meal time. Below, some seniors sample the news du jour on the luncheon menu.

A faint blue haze envelops the countless bridge games, relaxed chatter, occasional singing, and occasional study: this is the "T". Below, a solitaire fan finds that the problem is to win without cheating—or strike up a good bridge game instead.

Mary Lyons Durant, President, and her fellow dignitary, Mary Barnes, await the appearance of the unpredictable Stamford Local.

UNDERGRADUATE CHAPTERS

OUR LIFE BOTH NOW AND LATER achieves a special kind of unity through the undergraduate chapters. Varied social activities create and strengthen the regional bond among individual students. This year the chapters have also been effective in initiating and directing a "campus guide" service.

"Socializing" about the special events planned for this year's calendar are the senior members of the board: Dolores Rizzo, Jo Ann Doyle, Florence Lang, Dennie Hynes, President; Virginia Ketterson, and Carol Carnes.

SOCIAL BOARD

WORKING IN COLLABORATION with other clubs on- and off-campus, the Social Board is our Chamber of Commerce for free-time activities. Among the features on its calendar of events are "socials" with special themes, as the Valentine's Dance and the IRC party, ski weekends, and on-campus movies. Together with SAC, the Social Board is also preparing a bulletin highlighting places of interest in New York City.

A room you can call home requires a bit of interior decoration.

Carol Rencsko and Anne McShane settle down to do their Christmas knitting early.

Serving the community as postmistress, Mrs. Lipsio fills an important position in making the wheels of college life turn.

Recognized and greeted by all on campus is Kenny, of the Jack-of-all-trades Department.

"The bell's about to ring, so I'll close for now. Love, ——."

"Talk without Chalk, Lost and Found, Dickey Service"—we take a moment to catch up on the AB minutes.

Chatter in the day-hop room is a competitive business.

'An informal sing is accompanied by Kathy Xavier on the new lightwood spinet.

Ice-cream cones at noon, coffee at three: these are the most popular commodities of the day-hop "caf"—next to conversation, that is.

Mother Regina cures our ills at the Infirmary.

We listen to a special lecture on television from Fordham's Mr. O'Rourke.

Mrs. Murray helps us get that Christmas-in-Florida tan.

"He thinks it begins with 'M'."

The royal road to learning.

Off campus, we enjoy nature's quiescence in the Glen Island sunset . . .

George's coffee at the "Drug" . . .

A dinner out at Berger's . . .

And vicarious escape at the RKO.

Friendly service at the Shoe Repair . . .

Weekends off campus . . . We're on our way to Holy Cross . . . "the Point" . . . home.

Weekends on campus . . .
sometimes a Prom or a play
. . . sometimes a concert or a picnic . . . a walk . . . a talk.

MEMORIES are for the sentimental to cherish . . .
for the practical to live up to . . . they can make you happy
. . . sad
. . . embarrassed
. . . grateful . . .
the young boy has his dreams . . . the old man has his memories
. . . not so different . . . only a matter of tense . . . and a matter of existence that no longer exists anyway
. . . they're there without trying . . . and sometimes not with all the trying in the world . . . they come best with leisure . . .
silence . . . "Fill your life with beautiful memories and you'll never be at a loss for beauty."
Remember kindness, love, joy . . .
remember life . . .
dream life . . . and when you live life
you'll be doing it in 3-D.

Freshman Year

A week of self-conscious newness ends as the seniors make us welcome at the Senior-Freshman Tea.

Knowing all the names in the crowd and getting a package from home are two of the most satisfying experiences in first year.

"It wouldn't fit in the suitcase."

Sophomore Year

Sophomore year and we belong. Classes, social life, traditions: all have been "integrated" into a familiar pattern. No longer are ventures into research or blue books new, though they may still have the charm of being perilous. This is a time for fun, deepening friendships, and challenge. "If we make it, we're at the half-way mark!"

Setting the spirit for the "gay young sophomores" are our class officers.

Watch out for the ball, and also the racquet.

Junior Year

In junior year we find out what it means to be a class. We work together in seminars, play together in Lost and Found, and share together unforgettable memories from class rings to Junior Prom.

"Come see our itinerary."

"Swing your partner"—Hungarian style.

Cast of thousands! Grand finale.

Tonight it's a "Dutch treat," and we win the Swimphony competition in the water ballet with an old Dutch legend.

"Do not open till June, 1956."

Senior Year

Our first ladies smile from our senior stairs: Joan Bray, President; Joan Manuszak, Secretary; Ann O'Shaughnessy, Treasurer; Sue Ann Hintz, Vice-President.

Now we're on the receiving line. So soon.'

In the "swing of it," these smiling seniors do-si-do at one of the popular square dances sponsored by the Athletic Association.

These five prove that gold fourragères and smiles are a natural combination: Mary Jane Lane, Rose Raziano, Joan Bray, Gertrude Kelly, and Kay Frances Schepp.

Senior retreat: Father Burke becomes our beloved friend and trusted adviser.

Back from student teaching—
“We found a parking place!”

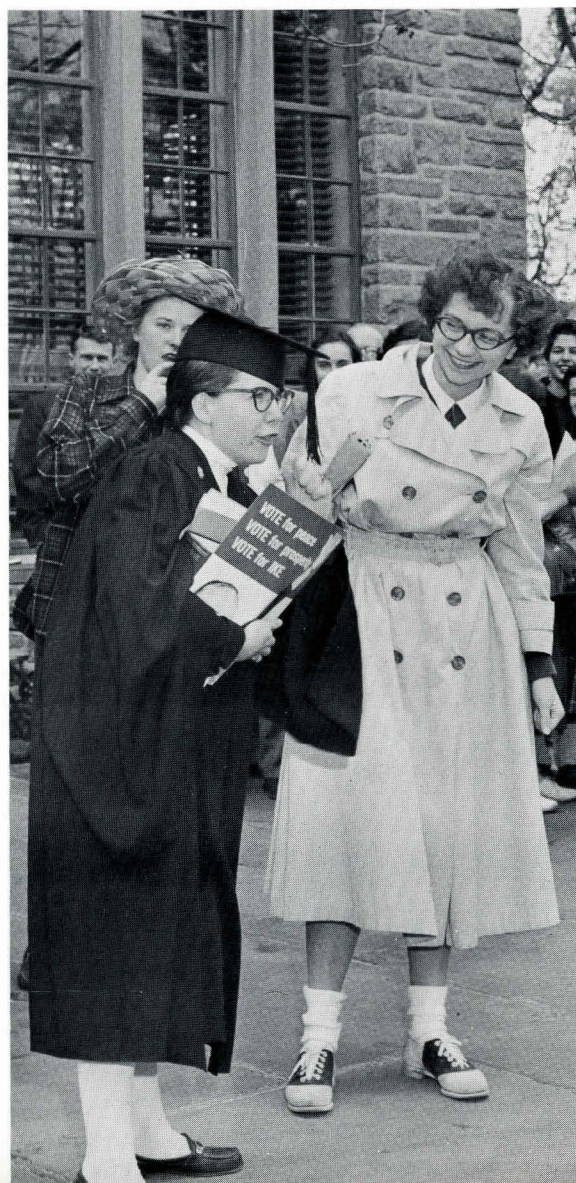

Senior year is a paradox of beginnings and endings. Now leaders in tradition and experienced “hands” at courses and class projects, we discover for the last time what life at CNR means. We also begin to form definite plans to give meaning to our future.

Our last Father-Daughter Dance.

Our first political campaign.

We relax with our title, "Stately Seniors," at the Christmas Dinner.

Not a Halloween party, but a crafts lesson for prospective teachers.

Root us, O Christ, in the grandeur of Thy glory, the brilliance of Thy truth, and the strength of Thy love.

